B.C. Fruit Growers Want Preference In British Market Are Informed Better Methods Needed In Province's Orchards

Apple Growers Given Advice by M. Middleton, District Horticulturist, at Convention of B.C. Fruit Growers' Association at Vernon; More Information on Labels on Cans Is Urged

Vernon, B.C., Jan. 21.—That there should be proper presentation of the claims of the Canadian fruit growing industry for its fair place in any arrangements made for a British preference was the text of a resolution adopted at the annual meeting of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association here today.

Protection of the consuming public was sought in a resolution asking that canners be forced to show on labels the origin of the pack and its contents. This would enable the buying public to know where the goods were put up, it was said. At present many small canners not under government supervision, it was stated, put up goods and wholesalers attached their labels.

It was also urged imports from other countries also show the country of origin.

NEED TO PREPARE
In an address before the preference resolution, Maurice Middleton, district horticulturist, urged apple growers of British Columbia to prepare to give assurance they could meet the increased export demand in the event of receiving a British preference.

"Although we cannot count on such a situation until it is actually a fact," Mr. Middleton said, "I really think it is up to us to prepare for it."

He pointed out that the British government is asking the British consumers to accept in the interest of Empire trade a preference on fruits and other products. Surely we, on the other hand, as growers, should be prepared to do our part in respect to the bargain, and prepare to give a bargain or a question of give and take. How much more confidence would our Canadian consumers have in goods when they are assured and could say to the imperial commissioners that Canadian fruit growers were making every effort to analyze and deal with production so their requirements in high quality products would be assured them under the preference.

Cartagena, Spain, Jan. 21.—The Spanish Government today ordered the destroyer Alcazar to Barcelona to co-operate with land forces in dealing with strike disorders. Carrying 400 men, it is expected to arrive early to-morrow.

AVIATORS IN CANADA WARNED NO JOBS FOR THEM IN CHINA
Ottawa, Jan. 21.—Officials of the Canadian and United States governments under took further steps today to stop more Canadian and United States aviators from coming to China to take Chinese government military jobs which do not exist.

Five Canadian aviators and five from the United States were here yesterday with little money in their pockets after discovering the jobs they had come to take were non-existent. Colonel L. M. Cosgrave, Canadian Trade Commissioner, asked the Canadian Department of Immigration to broadcast throughout Canada the information that the Chinese government requires no foreign aviators. At the department this morning it was stated Col. Cosgrave had been trying to make arrangements for the return of some Canadian aviators who are without funds. As for the situation in China with regard to foreign aviators, the opinion was expressed at the department that the prominence given news dispatches would be sufficient to inform Canadian aviators of the facts.

BIG MEETING IN BOMBAY IS FORBIDDEN

Police Ban Gathering of Forty Merchants' Associations in India City

Bombay, Jan. 21.—S. Sadanand, editor of The Free Press, Nationalist organ, was arrested today under new government ordinances promulgated to cope with the attempted renewal of the civil disobedience campaign.

The police commissioner banned a public meeting to be held this evening under the auspices of more than forty mercantile associations. People were asked not to attend any such meeting.

DICK PROTESTS HIGH SALARIES
Vancouver Conservative Member Wants B.C. Liquor Board Costs Reduced

Declares Economy Should Begin at Top Not With $4 a Day Man

Vancouver, Jan. 21.—High-salaried men should be cut before the provincial government reduces the pay of four-dollar-a-day men, William Dick, one of Vancouver's members in the provincial legislature, claimed in an address before Division Three Conservative Association at the Hotel Vancouver yesterday evening.

Opposition to any reduction in the number of Vancouver seats by the provincial government was also expressed by Mr. Dick and he was supported by George A. Walker.

Mr. Dick said he would advocate reduction in the number of the liquor board at the forthcoming session of the legislature, and would argue that the salary paid for the board be no greater than that paid by the former Liberal government.

"Economy should begin at the top and not with the $4 a day man," he said. He favors a one-man board.

Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, declared he would follow a policy of vigorous economy, stating that for twenty years successive governments in British Columbia had followed a policy of spending more money than was actually received by the treasury.

NEWSPAPERS SPREAD IN
Ottawa, Jan. 21.—The Department of Immigration has not received any request from Col. L. M. Cosgrave, Canadian Trade Commissioner at Shanghai, to broadcast throughout Canada the information that the Chinese government requires no foreign aviators. At the department this morning it was stated Col. Cosgrave had been trying to make arrangements for the return of some Canadian aviators who are without funds. To Salute Or Not To Salute Still Burning Subject of Discussion

Conflicting Views Aired at More Interested in Warm Meeting of Saanich School Trustees Yesterday

Proper Tribute, Says One Trustee; Waste of Time, Says Another

Saanich school children will be expected to observe Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe's mandate that every year they parade, salute the Union Jack and sing the National Anthem. The school board yesterday evening ordered the ruling of the Council of Public Instruction to be given effect by all school principals. It was considered that the order was mandatory, if weather permits the exercise, to comply with the order received from the Minister of Education. It was commented that the letter of instruction stated that the children "should assemble," but the trustees regarded the term as effective as the more positive "shall."

Trustee William Tomes and F. V. Hobbs warmly upheld the practice. In fact, there are children from stocks being necessary to train children of foreign origin in respect for the land in which they lived. Trustee Frank Partridge feared that singing in the open would prove impractical and extremely difficult without instrumental accompaniment.

WIDE DERIVATIONS
Trustees expressed the view that the flag did not signify monarchy. It was the emblem of patriotism. "Among the 2,000 pupils in Saanich there are Ethiopians, Japanese, Chinese, Spaniards, Swedes and Germans. In fact, there are children from stocks coming from all parts of the world. Something definite should be done to inculcate in them a love of the country in which they are being brought up," he asserted.

WASTE OF TIME
Trustee Partridge stated that the recent election meetings had been featured by strong opposition to saluting the flag. Parents appeared to oppose the proposal. He called attention to a cartoon in Monday's Times, believing it a true reflection of public opinion regarding flag saluting. He was positive that, unless accompanied, disaster would follow attempts to sing in the open. If singing were conducted in the schools, with a flag on the wall for saluting, he would support the innovation. Trustee Partridge also believed that saluting time would be wasted by the ceremony.

Trustee Tomes moved the enforcement of the order and was seconded by Trustee A. E. Hull. The motion carried without dissent.

The board then ordered that flagpoles out of service be repaired forthwith and that poles be erected at the same subject.

REGARDING THE INTERPRETATION OF THE WORD "SHOULD"
used in the notice to school trustees, the Minister of Education this morning remarked that it was the wording used in an old order on the same subject. "A certain amount of latitude must be allowed because of weather and other conditions," the minister said. "If a school board decided it would not put the order in effect, might 'should' then be interpreted to mean 'must'?" the minister was asked. "I have never heard of a board taking that stand. It would be time enough to decide that if a case arose," Mr. Hinchliffe replied.

HOPE TO KEEP TAX RATE NEAR LEVEL OF 1931

Increase May Be Little Or Nothing If All Plans Carried Out

Funding and Refunding Powers to Be Sought By City From Legislature

Hopeful prospects in Victoria's financial situation this year were held out this morning by Mayor Leeming in a statement expressing optimism that the 1932 tax rate could be held down close to the rate of last year. Exercise of rigid economy combined with funding and refunding powers which the city hopes to secure from the provincial government will be the main factors in keeping the rate close to the forty-two-mill level of 1931, he stated.

Having made a large step in the direction of handling the unemployment problem through arrangements for supplying direct relief to the needy, the mayor and council are turning all efforts towards a solution of the difficulties facing them in connection with financial affairs.

TAX BURDEN
"We fully realize the heavy burden on the back of land and property owners, and you may rest assured that no stone will be left unturned to prevent a serious increase in the mill levy," the mayor stated. "Things looked blue at the beginning of the year but there are indications now that if present plans mature the rate can be fixed very close to the level of last year."

Negotiations are already under way for introduction of a private bill on the Legislature's behalf at the session of the Legislature, by which power would be secured to refund a portion of the maturing serial debentures as was done in 1931 and to borrow for the cost of unemployment relief. Alderman W. T. Strath, chairman of the legislative committee, has these plans in hand and will report to the City Council at its next meeting on the progress made.

How heavily the economy axe will fall on the civic departments has not been settled but the budget will receive the closest scrutiny during consideration of estimates with a view to curtailment of expense in every direction.

BICYCLE RIDER HELD BLAMELESS

Claude Peden's Collision With Lim Lee, Chinaman, Accidental, Says Jury

After an inquest which lasted an hour and three-quarters, a verdict of accidental death was returned this morning in the case of Lim Lee, Chinese, who was knocked down January 12 at the corner of Moss and Richardson streets by Claude Peden, sixteen-year-old cyclist.

The inquest at Sands' Mortuary was postponed last week by Dr. E. C. Hart's coroner. Peden, a Chinese, suffered a broken collar-bone in the accident and was unable to appear to give evidence until today.

Two Chinese laborers with an interpreter, blueprints of the intersection where the accident occurred, and the bicycle, were produced.

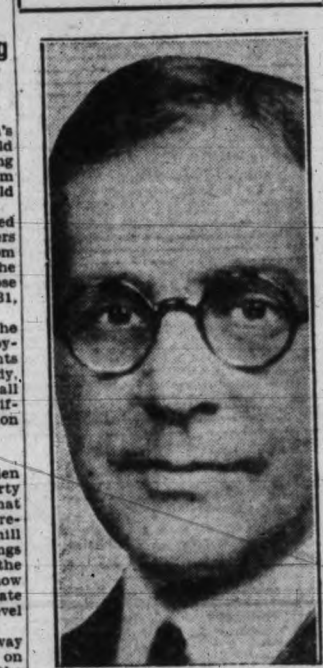

Inspector J. T. Boulton was called to the scene by a by-law dealing with two persons riding on a bicycle. Peden said he was proceeding down Moss Street hill, having just left Victoria High School. On the carrier behind him was Richard Hughes, a smaller boy. Three Chinese, Lim Lee, his father, and another, came out from Richardson Street after knocking off work for the day at the Woodward Greenhouses.

Peden said he swerved to avoid them but Lim Lee evidently became excited and doubled on his tracks and was struck by the bicycle at a point between the front wheel and the right handlebar. Lim was thrown on his back and Peden went over the handlebars on to the road.

CHINESE OATH
The other two Chinese appeared as witnesses. Since neither was a Christian, both took the "paper oath," which necessitated the signing of a scrap of paper which was burned as they repeated the oath.

Mr. Hughes said the cyclist swerved to avoid him first, but turned towards Lim Lee and struck him down. Others who gave evidence and bore witness to Lim Lee's death were Richard Hughes, apparently through being flurried, were James Cox, Violet Green and Fred Rawnsley. Richard Hughes did not see the accident because his view was hidden by Peden's back. In explaining the by-law, Inspector Boulton said it was unlawful for a second person to ride on any part of the bicycle frame in front of the seat and that the person propelling the bicycle must be on the seat. The jury deliberated two or three minutes.

MEN TO WORK AND GET MONEY

10,000 in Camps and on Rural Relief to Come Under New Bruhn Plan

$7.50 a Month For Pocket Money and $20 For Board Is Basis

Plans to give 10,000 men part-time work in return for their board and $7.50 a month pocket money, are announced by the Hon. B. H. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, as a result of the imminent successful completion of negotiations between the provincial and Dominion governments.

A total of 7,000 men are now being kept in the government's relief camps at a cost of $140,000 a month, which is $20 a month for each man. Mr. Bruhn explained. These men do no work, but put in their time enjoying life, walking in the woods and playing games. Besides the 7,000 in camps, there are nearly 3,000 more in rural areas getting direct relief from the government, but living in their own homes.

NEW PLANS
Under the new plan, Mr. Bruhn explained, it is planned to put all (Concluded on Page 2)

China Protests Japanese Control Of Railways

Nanking, Jan. 21.—The Chinese Foreign Office sent a note to the Japanese Government today protesting against what it said was Japanese interference with the operation of the Peking-Mukden Railway.

The note asked immediate restoration of traffic on the road and reserved the right to demand compensation for losses sustained.

U.S. COMMISSION AUTHORIZES C.P.R. PURCHASE OF MAINE LINE
Washington, Jan. 21.—The United States Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized acquisition of the Aroostook Valley Railroad Company in Maine by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Aroostook Valley Railroad is a thirty-two-mile electric line in the far north of Maine. It is controlled by the United States Senator Arthur B. Gould and members of his family, who hold 2,113 out of 2,970 shares in the company.—The Canadian Pacific owns 400 shares. Mr. Gould agreed about two years ago to sell the Canadian Pacific 2,000 shares of the Gould family stock. Arbitrators were appointed to fix a price. They agreed on $264.87 a share, although asserting they thought the price excessive, the Canadian Pacific recommended to their board the purchase be made. Brought before the commission for approval, the question of the price was again raised. The commission made a lengthy study of the situation and today declared $215 a share was a fair price. It approved the purchase and sale at not to exceed that price, if the parties should wish to proceed. Commissioner McShane dissented, setting the commission should approve the sale unconditionally.

PROTESTS MADE TO LEGISLATURE REDUCTION PLAN

Opposition to Redistribution Proposal Develops in Several Quarters

Conservative Suggestion Promises to Be Contentious Caucus Subject

Opposition voiced in several quarters to the suggestions placed before the Tohmei Government by influential Conservatives for a redistribution of seats in the provincial legislature, with the object of eliminating nine members and cut the House down to thirty-nine, leads to the opinion that no plans for a similar legislation will be favored at the forthcoming session.

Vancouver members have gone on record against the proposal that city having three members instead of six. Opposition has developed in Victoria to the proposal the Capital be represented by one member instead of four.

Hon. William McKenzie, Minister of Mines, in a recent speech, claimed the British Columbia Legislature was proportionately smaller than most of the other provincial legislatures.

A bulletin issued by the provincial government on the subject advances arguments against the proposed reduction by presenting a series of comparisons of costs with other provinces.

PLAN PROPOSED
It is anticipated, however, the proposal will come before the Conservative caucus when the House is in session. It calls for:

Three members in Vancouver, instead of six, with the city divided into three separate constituencies, each having a single representative.

One member for Victoria instead of four.

Amalgamation of Nanaimo and Alberni in one riding, and the creation of two ridings of conventional boundaries from the territory now covered by Skeena, Atlin and Omineca.

Amalgamation of Creston and Nelson in one riding.

POLICE WITNESS PAY QUESTIONED

Attorney-General Claims They Receive Double Payment

In a letter to the Victoria Police Commission, the Attorney-General's Department questions the propriety of paying the customary witness fees to police witnesses. The matter will come before the next meeting of the board. "As a police officer receives a monthly salary, we do not think the ratepayers should be called on to pay twice," the communication states.

A similar communication was before the Vancouver Police Board yesterday and Chief C. E. Edgett was authorized by the commissioners to explain to the department at Victoria that many times the officers are called upon to appear in court in their own time. It was pointed out that although officers are on call twenty-four hours daily they are only paid for eight hours' work a day, the same as any business organization.

AIM TO OBSERVE TREATIES

The Premier declared Japan's aim in Manchuria was solely the observance by China of existing treaties. The open door principle, he said, was the "root and trunk" of Japanese national policy and it must be based on "non-territorial ambitions and Japan's standing for respect for existing treaties," thus safeguarding peace in the Far East.

What Japan desired, he said, was only "to secure peace and order in Manchuria and to make that region safe, both for Chinese and foreigners, and to open it all for economic development."

NEED MAJORITY
It was stated the cabinet was unable to carry out its policy, being in a minority in the Lower House, and therefore, "it was deemed best to dissolve the Diet and submit ourselves to the will of the people."

Frederick Inukai, head of the Seiyukai party, came into power about six weeks ago, when the ministry of Baron Wakatsuki, Minseito party leader, resigned after criticism of its foreign policy and its handling of financial affairs. The new government quickly went off the gold standard, placing an embargo on gold shipments.

In the dissolved Diet the Seiyukai had 171 members, against 144 for the opposition. The government has expressed optimism about winning an absolute majority in the impending election.

MANCHURIA HOLDS KEY TO PEACE
Tokyo, Jan. 21.—Manchuria holds the key to peace in the Far East, Foreign Minister Kenichi Yoshizawa declared today at a brief session of the Japanese Diet. In his first public pronouncement since he was installed formally in the Foreign Office, Mr. Yoshizawa dwelt at length on Manchuria as the most outstanding diplomatic question confronting the government.

The sitting was the only one held since the new year. Shortly after Mr. Yoshizawa's speech the Diet was dissolved (Concluded on Page 2)

IMPROVEMENTS AT CROSSING MOOTED

Near Fatality at Lake Hill Crossing Recalled By Railway Board's Action

The narrow escape of Harry Buckle Jr., Old West Road, from death in a collision between his automobile and a C.N.R. freight train at a crossing on North Quebec Street near Lake Hill last May was recalled in a letter from the Board of Railway Commissioners received by the city.

The letter had been passed on to the Saanich Council. It calls on the corporation to show cause why certain trees should not be removed from the crossing to make the trains visible to automobile traffic and why floodlights should not be placed there to light up the area. Investigators for the board have recommended these actions in their reports.

In the accident which occurred early in the morning of May 8 Mr. Buckle had a miraculous escape from burning to death when his car collided with the train and caught fire. He threw himself out of the left side of the car when the door was torn off by the impact and escaped with burns and bruises. The car was wrecked.

KELWANA TRIAL NEXT MONDAY

Chief of Police D. Murdoch to Answer Charges of Murder

Kelowna, B.C., Jan. 21.—After two days of intense excitement, quiet has been restored in this town to-day, following the verdict of coroner's jury which failed to place the blame on the shoulders of any designated person for the slaying of Genevieve Nolan and Archie McDonald, ex-police constable, late Monday afternoon they heard three.

Following the inquest, Police Chief David Murdoch was brought before City Magistrate McWilliams and charged separately with the murders of the pair. The preliminary hearing was set for next Monday.

SAYS NAME IS D. OSBORNE
The accused, who was quite composed as he appeared in civilian dress, was defended by H. V. Craig. The prosecutor for the city was E. C. Weddell. He was charged under the name of Murdoch, although he told officials when he was arrested his real name was David Osborne. He said he had assumed the name of Murdoch at the age of twelve. No explanation for this was given.

Following the verdict of the coroner's jury at the first inquest, that on the death of Genevieve Nolan, that "she had been killed by gunshot wounds inflicted by a man in a blue chinchilla overcoat and a grey hat," a second inquest was held on the death of Archie McDonald. In this case the verdict of the jury read that "the deceased came to his death by gunshot wounds inflicted by a man seen leaving McDonald's house immediately following gun reports."

NEIGHBOR'S EVIDENCE
The outstanding evidence at the McDonald inquest was that of George H. Fobergy, a neighbor of the victim, that while his family was having supper about 5:30 Monday evening, Police Chief Murdoch called to find out where Archie McDonald lived. He departed and shortly afterwards they heard three or four shots, said the witness. Fobergy and his son ran to the McDonald house, where they found the kitchen door open and the body of the victim lying on the kitchen floor. They had seen someone running away.

John Elliott, the neighbor on the other side, also heard the shots and observed the running man. It was testified.

EFFORT TO ESCAPE
In evidence given at the inquest on the death of Miss Nolan, it was revealed that she was first shot in the hand outside the hotel. As she fled through the lobby door to gain safety she tried to escape through the dining-room door, but it was locked, and she was shot while standing in the doorway. After firing five shots into the woman's body the gunman dashed for the timbered shelter of the park flanking the lake. A low bank of mist rising from the water made a perfect screen for his retreat.

NOTE STUDIED
Further investigation with regard to the note secretly left by the girl in the pillow case of her bed, showed the day before the murder, showed the name of the man who had threatened her was not mentioned. In that note, which was not addressed to anyone and which was signed "Marie LeLonde," the girl evidently sought to leave some evidence in the event of sudden death. In the note she said she had been threatened with a gun on the previous day "if she did not lay off."

At the inquest it developed there were two eye-witnesses of the shooting from an adjoining room, but neither of them could identify the girl's assailant. Rudolf Sigrist, twenty-eight, said he had seen a girl come and go through the back door, and grey hat. He had seen the shots fired and the girl fall.

Alex Purvis, hotel clerk, also said he had seen the shooting, but could not identify the assailant.

HEARD SEVERAL SHOTS
Mrs. J. Clerehew, wife of a barber who was outside the hotel, heard a shot, followed by four or five more. She said she then saw Chief Murdoch run out of the hotel, carrying a gun, and proceed along the sidewalk. Later she entered the hotel and heard the body of the girl, Mrs. Clerehew stated that the day before the shooting Miss Nolan had told her she was afraid Chief Murdoch would kill her and then commit suicide.

The body of the girl, who was conducted the autopsy, showed the girl had been shot several times, one shot penetrating the heart.

Mrs. Lachlan stated she had seen a man answering to Chief Murdoch's description on the upper floor of the hotel on the afternoon of the murder. Further evidence was given that the girl had come from Trail and was a hairdresser by trade.

ARRIVED JANUARY 10
It was developed that the girl victim, Genevieve Nolan, who was twenty-four years of age, was only in Kelowna for a short time, having arrived January 10. The police are endeavoring to locate her relatives.

Victoria-born Pilot Plane Flies Across Ontario

Report Tells of W. H. Cross of Victoria and Pilot J. Grubbstrom on Ottawa-Sudbury Jump

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—On a leisurely flight to the British Columbia coast from Montreal, Jarl Grubbstrom, Norwegian pilot, and W. H. Cross, navigator, hopped off from the Uplands Airport here at 10:15 o'clock this morning for a jump to Sudbury, Ont., as their next objective.

The fliers, who have no set itinerary, are bound for Victoria, British Columbia, home of Mr. Cross. Their flight is expected to take them from Sudbury to Sioux Lookout, Winnipeg, Calgary and over the mountains via the Crow's Nest Pass to Vancouver.

The airmen landed at the Uplands Airport yesterday evening after an uneventful journey from St. Eustache, Quebec.

Mr. Cross, who is acting as navigator, is also owner of the plane, a Fairchild cabin machine. Mr. Grubbstrom is a pilot with considerable winter flying experience. The plane is equipped with ski.

GOVERNMENT LEADERS SAY JAPAN FOR OPEN DOOR AND NOT ANNEXING MANCHURIA

solved, clearing the way for a general election.

Mr. Yoshizawa emphasized that both the United States and the League of Nations had a much better understanding of Japan's case, thanks to the Japanese's clarifying retort that Tokyo had no territorial aims in the province of Manchuria and was standing for the policy of the open door.

The Foreign Minister spoke rather hopefully of the forthcoming Disarmament Conference at Geneva. He touched on Russia without mentioning the proposed non-aggression pact with the Soviet.

The Foreign Minister described the Manchurian question as "one which not only affects Japan profoundly, but which engaged the attention of the entire world."

CONSEQUENCE TO JAPAN
"It is, of course, beyond argument that the welfare of Manchuria is of the greatest consequence to Japan," he said. "There are more than a million Japanese subjects there and we possess, in connection with the leased territories, railways, mines and numerous vital interests secured either by treaty or by contract."

"In recent years the Chinese authorities, ignoring the historical fact that Manchuria is entirely due to Japanese efforts, and taking advantage of our complacency, have pursued a policy of oppression toward the Japanese and have set at naught their treaty rights. The protests and warnings of the Japanese government were of little avail."

SAYS PATIENCE TRIED
Thus, the situation became more and more menacing and the menace to our position increasingly grave. The Japanese patience was tried to the breaking point when the sudden incident of the September 18 came. The reference was to the bombing of the Japanese-owned South Manchuria railway.

"Manchuria holds the key to peace in the Far East. That was true before the Russo-Japanese War, and it is even more true at present. In the past, Japan always has done everything in her power to prevent civil commotion in China from spreading to Manchuria because we possess there important rights and interests rendering the maintenance of peace a matter of absolute necessity to Japan."

"Thanks to these untiring efforts, Manchuria has been kept free from the constant turmoil of civil strife, and has been converted into a land of peace and prosperity."

RESPONSIBLE FOR MANCHURIA
"But for the Chinese misconduct of recent years and the Chinese disregard of treaty and contractual obligations, never would have resulted in the present complications. At any rate, as we have been chiefly accountable in the past for the maintenance of peace in Manchuria, so will our responsibilities in this respect be enhanced rather than lessened in the future."

"In this connection I desire to make clear Japan's historic policy of territorial design in Manchuria and she will uphold the principles of the open door and equal opportunity as well as all existing treaties relating to that territory."

"What Japan desires is only to secure peace and order in Manchuria and to make that region safe, both for Chinese and foreigners, and to open it to all for economic development."

ANTI-JAPANESE AGITATION
M. Yoshizawa then turned to conditions prevailing in China, saying that for many years anti-Japanese agitation had been carried on and that this agitation had increased in violence after the outbreak of September 18. He pointed out that the boycott of Japanese goods had been promoted by unofficial organizations, he added, "under the direct or indirect influence of the Chinese government, but quite against the free will of the Chinese merchants and the people generally."

"The truth is, the Foreign Minister continued, 'foreign relations in China have been sacrificed to the machinations of domestic politics during these years of continual war and factional strife.'"

ALIENIST QUILTS JUDD HEARING

Prosecution Mental Expert, Shouted at By Accused in Phoenix, Arizona, Courtroom

By RALPH BROWN
Associated Press Correspondent
Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 21.—Mrs. Wanda Ruth Judd leaped from her chair to-day in the crowded Maricopa County court room here and denounced Dr. Joseph Catton of San Francisco, prosecution alienist.

Mrs. Judd is on trial for the slaying of Agnes Anne Lerol, her friend, here last October, and sending the body to Los Angeles in a trunk. The taking of testimony started to-day following selection of a jury.

She faces a similar charge on the death of Miss Hedvig Samuelson, who also was a friend of hers.

"You get out of here," she cried, raising both clenched fists and flashing eyes as the psychiatrist approached her chair during a brief court recess.

"Make him get out of here," she got out, shouting, "I won't have you near me!" she said to him. "You talked about me! Get out!"

Catton, nonplussed and amazed, backed away, then turned and left the room as defence counsel, the matron and Dr. George W. Stephens, defence expert.

These men at work for a short period each day, or for a certain number of hours a week, so that at the end of the month each man will have done at least $27.50 worth of work.

These earnings, $20 worth of work, the government for board and keep, while $7.50 would be handed over to the men for cigarette money and spending on pleasure or other interests.

For the 3,000 men living in their own homes, various forms of work will be devised so they can give some return for the direct relief they are receiving. It is planned to rotate the employment in these rural areas so that the maximum number of men who feel they need assistance can be brought within the scope of the arrangement.

WILL COST LITTLE MORE
As spokesman for the unemployment committee of the cabinet, Mr. Bruhn declared that putting the men to work for a short time each day would cost very little more, while the country in return would have the benefit of work they do remaining as a permanent asset. In this way, the total cost of the government's plan for keeping men would be made productive, he said. Most of the work would be on roads.

Mr. Bruhn said that in 1930 the government spent $2,000,000 giving employment to 27,000 men. During 1931 some 12,000 transients from other provinces had been added to the total under its care. This increase, along with changes in the national relief plan, had complicated matters.

He said he hoped that loggers and lumbermen would be quitting the relief camps soon to go back to their work, as it opens up with the resumption of activity in the spring.

Amalgamation of Golden and Revelstoke with the southern part of Golden thrown into Cranbrook.

A new constituency of Peace River, William Dick and George A. Walkem, Vancouver members of the legislature, voiced objection to the redistribution proposal at a Conservative meeting in Vancouver yesterday evening.

Regarding redistribution, Mr. Walkem said he was not only against reducing the number of members, but would insist on greater proportionate representation than the city now enjoys.

MINISTER OF UNEMPLOYMENT
Mr. Dick spoke in favor of retrenchment by both government and municipal bodies. He predicted the unemployment situation would remain serious for longer than the present year, and advocated a Minister of Unemployment be appointed rather than having three or four cabinet members handle the problem.

Mr. McKenzie in his recent remarks on the subject and suggested that seasonal indifferences be cut and people forget members served for twelve months in the year, had to travel huge areas at their own expense and could not afford to travel to any public or private affair. The British Columbia Legislature compared favorably with any in Canada and was properly proud of its record.

Pointing to Atlin with 63,000 square miles he said to lessen the number of members in the House meant larger districts. He would not say any reduction could be made in the number of seats but believed no wholesale reduction should be considered. He warned against creating a situation where only millionaires could sit in the Legislature.

BIG JEWEL ROBBERY TO-DAY IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 21.—Jewelry valued by police at more than $250,000 was stolen to-day from the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Glimby here by three hand-dits who bound Mr. Glimby and a butler and escaped.

Believes Her Sane
Dr. Catton, before leaving San Francisco to appear in Phoenix as a witness, issued a statement in which he said he was convinced Mrs. Judd was sane, and that he expected her to tell "the whole story of the crime" before the trial ended.

Before the sudden outbreak to-day Mrs. Judd sat with drawn mouth and nervously shrugging her shoulders, observing the seating in the jury box of the two men who are to decide whether she shall forfeit her life for the slaying of Agnes Lerol.

J. DRINKWATER'S BODY IS FOUND

Remains of Pioneer Alberni Resident Discovered on Edge of Great Central Lake

Special to The Times
Great Central, Jan. 21.—The body of Joe Drinkwater, pioneer resident of Alberni, was found on Wednesday sixteen miles down Great Central Lake by Brown Brothers, logging contractors. In the course of their work the loggers noticed an unusual bundle on the lake shore and on investigation discovered the dead man with his feet and legs partly immersed in the lake and his body partly under water. Joe Drinkwater was a striking figure who had lived in the district since 1882.

He was the discoverer of Della Falls, and the Big Interior mine. The falls were named after his wife, whom he married in Victoria. For many years he was owner of the Ark Hotel, at one time the resort of tourists to whom Joe acted as guide. He had been living in a cottage on the shore of Great Central Lake for the last few years. Sergeant MacInnes of the Provincial Police, has proceeded to the scene to take charge and make investigations.

THE JUBILEE HOSPITAL

"The citizens of Victoria are receiving full value for the money being expended on the hospital. No institution that is giving one-third of its public services free of charge, with the exception of the provincial and municipal grants, can do otherwise than show a deficit."—Dr. A. K. Haywood, of the Vancouver General Hospital, referring to the Provincial Jubilee Hospital in the recent report he made on that institution after a thorough investigation into its operation at the request of the Victoria City Council.

THOSE WHO HAVE CONTRIBUTED to the maintenance of this fine establishment could require no better guarantee than Dr. Haywood's statement that their money has been used wisely and effectively. But the time has arrived for the hospital to appeal once again to the generosity of the people of this community. Its directors are faced with large liabilities, mainly in the form of accounts owing to the merchants of this city, and the funds are not available to discharge them. On the last day of 1931 the amount of current bills owing was just a little less than $60,000.

The directors naturally find no pleasure in frankly placing these facts before the public. They recognize—and they are right in doing so—that the present economic condition of the world is affecting the hospitals of Canada just as it is affecting the hospitals of other countries. In their efforts to reduce the amount of the liabilities to which we have referred they have explored every means of effecting economies; they have overlooked nothing. But it should be understood that an institution of this important character must be maintained at a standard which will permit it to meet all the exacting demands that are constantly being made upon it. To impair its efficiency in any particular would not only be inimical to the humanitarian services it renders, but also would be considered a serious retrograde step, since, after all, our most valuable asset is the human asset, the preservation of which should be our first care.

The directors of the hospital have reached the point, however, at which some form of halt in its free service will have to be called unless sufficient funds are forthcoming to enable them to continue to render succor to those unfortunate who are unable to pay for the treatment they receive. They hold out this gloomy prospect knowing full well what it would mean to many sick and helpless people; but confronting them all the time is that large pile of unpaid bills owing to Victoria tradesmen, who, by the way, have shown the utmost consideration all through the trying period of the last year or so.

It is felt that the citizens of this community who are in a position to do so will see to it that the institution of which they must feel justly proud is not compelled to resort to such drastic measures as those hinted at. Confident of the response with which it will be met, therefore, the directors are about to submit their appeal, and The Times bespeaks for it the measure of support that will permit the work of the hospital to go on uncurtailed and unimpaired in any form.

PREMIER BRACKEN'S PROPOSAL

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ALBERTA. Saskatchewan and Manitoba under one government as proposed by Premier Bracken in Winnipeg recently, would involve the creation of a province with an area of nearly 760,000 square miles, a population of 2,350,000, and a debt of some $320,000,000. The consolidation would eliminate two administrations, and this would effect some saving, but we doubt if the economies that would follow the change would be as important as some advocates of the scheme appear to believe.

The ordinary expenditures of the three provinces now amount to some $50,000,000 a year. The ordinary expenditure of a province of 760,000 square miles and a population of 2,350,000 would not be very much—anything less than that. In fact, it would be reasonably safe to predict that it would be more, since the demand for roads and other public works in the outlying districts of this vast territory would be at least as great as the demands for these facilities upon the present governments.

We are inclined to believe that Premier Bracken would find that if his proposal were carried out the new province of 2,350,000 people would spend more than was spent by the three provinces it replaced. He would find also that the problems of administration would be infinitely more difficult than those which in normal times engage the attention of the three present provincial administrations.

British Columbia with 350,000 square miles is too large to be effectively governed by one institution; if we were any larger we would have been bankrupt long ago. But Premier Bracken proposes the creation of a province much more than twice the size of British Columbia.

The thing simply can not be done except under a completely new constitutional system which would involve the creation of numerous county administrations and the extension of wide powers to the municipalities, leaving the provincial government with relatively little control and the legislature as a purely law-making institution. There is a very definite limit for area and population beyond which a centralized government can not operate successfully—or safely—and that limit would be trebled in both aspects under Premier Bracken's proposal.

THE NEW ZEALAND TREATY

ACCORDING TO THE TORONTO Globe, Canadian dairymen and the National Dairy Council will be quite satisfied with a five-cent duty on New Zealand butter, while we also are told that, with the exception of the butter rate, trade conditions between Canada and New Zealand are to go back to what they were in the spring of 1930.

This general understanding has been given to our eastern contemporary by manufacturers and dairymen whom it approached for their views on the result of Mr. Stevens' negotiations with Mr. Downie Stewart in Honolulu recently. We shall hope this information proves to be correct. Canada needs the New Zealand market for her manufactured products.

If Mr. Stevens did as well as this at Honolulu, it seems unfortunate that Mr. Bennett virtually killed the old trading arrangement with New Zealand by putting the butter duty up to eight cents when the president of the National Dairy Council of Canada had made it clear that the four-cent duty provided for in the Dunning budget was the "moderate" duty that would meet the case.

The dairymen's organization's official explained at the time that poor wheat crops had resulted in the production of more butter, that Canada soon would be on an export basis, when a high tariff would be ineffective because the domestic price would be controlled by the world price. How prophetic were his words is reflected by the fact that while the greatest howl—mostly political—was going up to heaven about our expiring dairy industry, when New Zealand butter was coming in in large quantities, our dairymen were getting forty-one cents a pound for their product, while now, with no New Zealand butter coming in at all, they are getting only a little more than half that price. The outcome was the reduction of trade worth $36,000,000 to less than $7,000,000.

WHO LOVES NATURE?

PEOPLE WHO LIVE IN THE COUNTRY. According to a speaker at the recent New Orleans meeting of the American Nature Study Society, are not very often in love with nature. Farmers oppose the introduction of nature study courses in schools, farm children have very little interest in the matter and farm folk generally look on nature as an enemy rather than as a friendly and beautiful ally.

All of this is probably a bit surprising, although it need not be. There is little doubt that some of the most impassioned writing about the beauties of nature comes from people who live in city apartments and would not know a wheatfield from a cabbage patch. The man who makes his living by agriculture is not given to much talk over the delights of living close to the soil.

And that is perfectly natural. A clear, frosty spring morning can be heaven itself to the nature-lover; but to the farmer it can mean a ruined fruit crop and the loss of half his year's income. The vagaries of the weather may delight the city man who is on vacation, but they can move the farmer to prayerful obstructions.

Nevertheless, the countryman's reluctance to gush about nature's charms is hardly a true sign that he does not recognize them, and delight in them. He knows that nature can be malignant as well as lovely, and he does not like to talk about "rural delights," just as the sailor gets a pain when he hears people speak of the "romance of the sea"; but the countryman is a nature-lover at bottom, or he would not be living in the country.

For his rewards are things that do not often get put into words. They are things he soaks up unconsciously, hardly thinking about them; the clean freshness of a hilly pasture in a misty dawn, the pungent warmth of a filled barn on a winter's morning, the richness of green young wheat on a long slope at sunset, the cool dusk of the shadowy lanes down which he sends his cattle to their grazing fields—these things mean more to him than he can ever tell. And because he can not tell about them, but can only curse unreasonable weather, he will always be the despair of nature-lovers from the city.

The New York Sun

Compilers of horrible examples for books on the elements of grammar will find a rich store in the manuscript of the minutes of the Hofstadter committee.

Answers to questions put by Judge Seabury a few weeks ago included these gems:
"The architecture ain't very splendid."
"I give the cash and took the property."
"I used to draw a salary off of him."
"It run around $110,000."
"I got it in piecemaking."
"It has fell down 50 per cent."
"That ain't unkind."
"I have not asked."
"Youse got all that data; I ain't got nothing."
"That ain't the pay cheques."
"All them bank accounts."
"Me and my brother."
Judge Seabury stands the barrage very well. He has become inured to the double negative in his effort to produce the positive positive.

EVERYDAY LIFE IN RUSSIA
Bruce Bliven in The Manchester Guardian

There is a shortage of everything in Russia—except, perhaps, speeches—and goods are rationed on a system of priorities. The army and the factory workers, of course, come first. While it is hard to say so with scientific accuracy, most of the independent authorities with whom I talked thought that the peasant comes second (his status is subject to great local variation). Then follow clerical workers, professional men, and so on until we reach the disfranchised, careless classes—priests, employers of labor, etc., who must buy in the open market at high prices, and have a very hard time of it indeed.

But even when you have worked out the situation in regard to wages, food, clothing, and so on, for any individual you have only begun to tell the story. For he has a whole series of state-provided services and insurances which have no counterpart in the United States. He has security in old age, in illness, or in involuntary unemployment. He has, in a rapidly growing number of cases, which already reaches many thousands, new living quarters which, by previous Russian proletarian or peasant standards are absolutely palatial. His recreation and cultural advancement are planned and administered by expert hands on a scale never dreamed of before or elsewhere.

Faith is among men what gravity is among planets and suns.—Charles H. Parkhurst.

Loose Ends

The government tries to think against heavy odds—something happens in the wild place of Vancouver Island—and some queer views are expounded.

By H. B. W.

I SEE by the papers that the government is considering the advisability of closing the Parliament Buildings to the public during the part of the day so as to give the cabinet and its officials time to look after public business with an odd minute to think occasionally.

I have a lot of sympathy with the government and its officials. They are overwhelmed with visitors, job-hunters and interviewers, and how they ever have a minute to think at all I only know. I wouldn't be surprised, by the face of events, to find that they never do. The picture of governments vainly trying to think against all these obstacles, natural and artificial, is indeed heartbreaking. A lot of people in this country have a curious idea about government. They think that the people are elected to listen all day to the complaints and private affairs of voters. To listen to them all, the entire time of any government would be required, and this might be a bad idea. Let the government attend to the visitors and shake the public house out of the permanent experts do the thinking and the business. The government will be well able to handle its job, the experts will have time for theirs, the public will be satisfied and we shall get reasonably good government. It is the attempt to make politicians out of poets, and still worse, experts out of politicians, that bedevils the art of government. And then, if we could only get rid of the public altogether, everything would be all right.

A GENTLEMAN writes me from a Jordan River to call my attention to a remarkable and significant phenomenon. He says that old-fashioned square dances are making a triumphant return in the rural districts of Vancouver Island. "At these dances," he says, "the young people are in the majority and are evidently enjoying the dances as we used to do when we were young, and as we do yet. There is no need of liquor to live up the nights, as there are some wonderful old-time fiddlers here yet, whose music comes from the heart; and the dancing is not the boring, staid dancing of the past, but a real dancing, who charge about $20 an evening and only play about once round the room when they quit for a rest, and only play altogether from 9 to 1 a.m. Five or six years ago if anyone tried to put on an old-time dance, a few old-timers would get up and the younger generation would look on and think we were crazy. Don't you think that the present change is a sign that the young people are coming back to normal?"

I DON'T KNOW whether they are coming back to normal, but I feel that there must be something of great social consequence behind this strange movement. The youth of the country, out in the great open spaces, is evidently in revolt against the fashionable dances of the day, which seem to be a combination of a funeral march and a petting party. But what my poor friend from Jordan river doesn't understand is that these fashionable dances reflect the mood of the time. It is an unhappy time, a time of mourning for better days, and it is obsessed with the shadow of the dancing habits of the rustic Vancouver Island may be a sign that the mood of the time is changing, but I fear that the intelligence of rustic Vancouver Island is still far above that of other places. I see no sign of revolt anywhere else. The depression seems to have been in every shadow. All the miseries of this civilization are written large and plain on the unhappy faces of those who toil strenuously after pleasure and labor so diligently for relaxation.

IT IS good news that Sir Barry Jackson, even in these times, can bring a fine theatrical company to this distant end of the earth. One of these days, I predict, and my predictions are notoriously correct, there will be more of such companies touring the world. There will be a realization that the shadow of the motion picture screen cannot produce the substance of the stage, that it can never be anything more than what it is, a shadow; and the shadow of a man, however beautiful, can never be the man himself. There is always something missing.

AS A MATTER of fact, a good case could be built up to prove that this is the vague disease which is afflicting humanity in many forms today—the disease of remoteness from reality. The disease, which comes of living on the shadow instead of the substance. Almost everything now is a shadow in one way or another. Everything we use is just the shadow of a machine. We don't make it, we don't understand it, we don't love it, and that is the essential difference between us and our great-grandfathers, who made their things, understood them and loved them. And invariably the shadow, the product of unseen mechanical hands, lacks something intangible but tremendously important, just as the motion picture lacks something that is to be found only on the stage.

IN THIS room, where I do my work, there are two chairs. One was made in a factory by machinery. There is no flaw in it, no irregularity, no mark of child or roughness of saw. The other was made by a friend of mine, a mighty chair of oak. He made it with months of work over his bench, planing down the tough oak, gouging out the mortise joints, fastening them with round dowels. You can see the marks of his chisel here and there and the roughness of his saw. One or two of the dowels stick out a little further than they should. But there is a quality about the hand-made chair which will last for hundreds of years, long after this column has become only an unpleasant memory. There is a beauty about it which you will not find in the best product of the most accurate machine in the world. There are the traces of men's hands, the touch of humanity about it. You can look at it and feel that a fellow-man made it and put something of his own spirit into it. Whereas the other chair has perfection

THAT IS true of every machine a product in the world from walking-sticks to automobiles, and living entirely with these alien things which are no part of his life, a man inevitably loses contact with the realities of life itself. One of these days the world will wake up and find that it has been living for a long time with shadows until in its art, in its business, in its economics and its politics, the substance, the reality has got lost in the rush. It has got so bad, indeed, that most people won't understand what I am talking about at all. They will probably think me quite mad. But a few old fellows—a few fellows who have made oak chairs or ploughed a field or saved a tree up or planted a cabbage, will understand.

I am pleased to see that the councils of Oak Bay and Victoria both incline to the opinion that the Canadian dollar is yet tender for 100 Canadian cents. The virtues and vices of a depreciating currency are not fully grasped by the powers that be, or we would not pursue the present suicidal policy of thinking only in terms of depression, and thus cause Dominion capital and Dominion capitalists to play for safety, instead of promoting active industrial and agricultural enterprises.

It requires to be more widely recognized that pegging the Canadian dollar on an American dollar or French franc is not conducive to the welfare and prosperity of our fellow citizens. Are we such a youthful community that we must wait till Grandmother Britain teaches us how to suck eggs? The first step to a revival consists in a stern reduction of governmental expenditure: federal, provincial and local. Incidentally an ethically sound government should not be engaged in liquor or opium traffic. Economical governance should be accompanied by financial common sense, aiming at a ratio of exchange value for the Canadian dollar, which would give us a definite advantage in world markets. For instance, any commercial gain accruing to the Dominion from the recent Australian and New Zealand trade treaties will be greatly nullified by insistence on New York or Paris standards, owing to the inherent advantage to Australia and New Zealand of a more depreciated currency than that of Canada.

As a British Imperialist I completely fail to see why the peoples of the empire should maintain their monetary autonomy on a par with France or the United States of America. As a Canadian citizen I see no basic reason why we should suffer from unemployment and sterilization for the sake of the Bank of France or the Federal Reserve Bank.

Speaking of the Weather—by Charles Fitzhugh Talman

No Matter Where You Go, You Will Find a Weather Station Somewhere Near; Several Located in Arctic Circle

One of the remarkable products of modern civilization is the vast network of stations for observing and recording the world's weather. It is estimated that there are now in operation more than 35,000 of these stations at fixed locations on land, and several thousand ships conduct regular weather observations during their voyages. Several hundred ships report their observations regularly by radio for immediate use on land in connection with forecasting.

Of the land stations, some are large observatories fully equipped with elaborate instruments making very detailed records. At the opposite extreme, there are thousands of stations where the observers devote only a few minutes each day to recording one or a few elements of weather.

The only large land area where no permanent stations now exist is Antarctica, where, however, stations have been maintained for considerable periods by exploring expeditions, and where some permanent stations will undoubtedly be established in the future. One of the favorite projects of the late Admiral Peary was the establishment of a weather observatory at the South Pole. At present the southernmost weather station in the world is the one maintained by the Argentine government at Laurie Island in the South Orkneys, about latitude 61 degrees south.

Thus there is no station within the Antarctic Circle, but there are several within the Arctic Circle, the most northerly one, and the most northerly permanently inhabited spot on the globe, being that maintained by the Russians in Franz Josef land. There are half a dozen stations in Greenland, and there are others in Spitzbergen.

The United States has a station at Point Barrow, Alaska. All the stations mentioned report the results of their observations by radio. Several other weather stations will be maintained in the Arctic regions for the "International Polar Year" of 1931-32. Not only is the world now dotted over with weather stations, but the observations made at the more important of these have broadened in scope in recent years. Thus there has been a general increase in the number of observations made each day, and hundreds of stations measure conditions in the upper air with the aid of balloons, kites or airplanes.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and bronchitis of the throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Now two sizes 60c—$1.25. (adv.)

BOARD HONORS TRUSTEE HOBBS

Saanich School Board Re-elects Veteran Member as Chairman

The first meeting of the 1932 School Board of Saanich was held yesterday evening at the Royal Oak Municipal Hall. Trustees F. V. Hobbs, Frank H. Partridge and A. E. Hull were sworn in by Robert Brydon, J.P., and Mr. Hobbs was elected chairman for the year. The fourth Wednesday in each month was selected as the date of the regular meetings of the board. Chairman Hobbs appointed Trustee W. S. Thorpe as chairman of the finance committee with Trustee Partridge. Trustee W. Tomes was named chairman of the works and grounds committee with Trustee Hull as the second member. Trustee Hobbs will be ex-officio the third member of each. Trustees Thorpe and Partridge will represent the board on the health committee of the municipal council. The delegate to the Saanich Public Schools Athletic Association will be Trustee Hull.

FRANK V. HOBBS
Chairman Saanich School Board

A registration fee of $1 per term, or $2 annually, will be charged all students attending the Saanich High Schools. This fee will cover the cost of paper and other supplies required for examinations and tests. The board approved the fee when informed that a similar charge was in effect in Victoria.

A deputation from the Mt. Douglas Parent-Teacher Association, headed by C. F. Dawson, asked improvement of the school grounds. The board later agreed that the work would be an excellent relief project for the municipal council to consider but decided not to press the matter until the council had been given time to study the outlook for the year. A request for chairs for the school auditorium was also presented by the deputation but was deferred until the estimates are under consideration.

Chemainus

Chemainus, Jan. 21.—The Baptist young people held their weekly meeting Monday evening in the church, with Mrs. George Pulling in the chair. Readings were given by Miss Poppy Pulling, Miss Mary Robinson, Miss Elizabeth Clement, Miss Mabel Cook, Jack Howe, Tom Cook and Henry Work.

On Monday evening the monthly social will be held. A leap year dance was given under the auspices of the Chemainus Young People's Club on Monday evening. The Vagabond orchestra of Nanaimo played dance music. After supper dancing continued until 1:30 a.m.

Twelve members attended the annual meeting of the First Chemainus Girl Guide Association held in the reading room of the Recreation Club. The president, Mrs. Henry Knight, was in the chair.

The following gave reports: Mrs. Knight, Miss L. M. Vye, and Miss Kathleen Porter. Nomination of officers for 1932 took place.

The secretary, Miss Ethel Greig, was unanimously re-elected. The annual parishioners' meeting of Westholme and Crofton was held Tuesday evening in Crofton Church Hall.

L. P. Solly was re-elected vicar's warden, and L. P. Foster, people's warden. The following were elected to the church committee: Capt. J. Douglas Groves, Major Bailey, A. G. W. Cooke, E. C. Hawkins, R. de C. Veale, G. Highmoon, C. W. Dunne, Mrs. Lloyd, Mrs. Groves, Miss Foster, and the president of the W.A., delegates to the synod: L. P. Foster and E. C. Hawkins; rural dean delegates, Mrs. L. P. Solly, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Dee and Miss Foster; auditor, C. W. Dunne.

Rev. Canon and Mrs. A. W. Hazell have had as their guests at the vicarage Mrs. J. Cammidge and her son Dick of Victoria.

Miss Eleanor Dinahale has returned to Victoria after visiting her cousins Mr. and Mrs. Robert McBride, Island Highway.

Mrs. William Allister was a recent visitor to Ladysmith.

Richmond Ross has returned to Shawnigan Lake school.

Sooke

Sooke, Jan. 21.—The annual vestry meeting of the parishioners of Holy Trinity church was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. McBride Tuesday evening, with Rev. H. M. Bolton presiding.

Rupert Soule, people's warden, read the report and the financial statement which showed the affairs of the church to be in a satisfactory condition. Successful reports on the work of the Women's Auxiliary were given.

Rev. Mr. Bolton appointed Capt. Watson as vicar's warden and Rupert Soule was re-elected people's warden. The church committee for the year includes Capt. Watson, Rupert Soule, E. Soule, J. A. Murray, Maj. J. C. Cooke, H. Simpson; delegates to the synod will be chosen from the church

Bennett's Partner Will Speak Before Local Club Tuesday

Harry G. Nolan, barrister of Calgary and partner in the law firm of Premier R. B. Bennett, will address the Victoria Men's Canadian Club at a luncheon in the Empress Hotel next Tuesday.

It was announced this morning by John Cochran, chairman of the speakers' committee of the club.

Mr. Cochran was advised of the arrangements by Graham Spry, national secretary of the Association of Canadian Clubs, who stated Mr. Nolan had been making a speaking tour of the prairies. His subject here will be "Lotus Botha and South African Unity."

Mr. Nolan is a graduate in the University of Alberta and University College, Oxford.

Lodge to Meet.—The regular meeting of Carme Rebekah Lodge No. 45 will be held on Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Odd Fellows Hall. After the business session of the lodge, a social game of cards will be provided by the social committee.

Children's Musical Play.—A children's musical play entitled "The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe" will be given at Oak Bay United Church schoolroom on Friday evening at 8 o'clock by members of the Sunday school of First United Church. This play is being repeated by special request as its first presentation was such a success. The proceeds will be for missionary funds.

FASHION PLAQUE

This simply designed pendant is used by Maggy-Bouff with the majority of the evening dresses in her collection. Some are of onyx, some coral, some jade, some turquoise. All are designed in the "fence" pattern, by means of seven bangles held together by a band of white sapphires.

SKILFUL PLAY ESSENTIAL TO SUCCESS OF SYSTEM

Recent Bridge Match Shows Experts Rush in Where Tyros Fear to Tread; Need of Intimate Knowledge of End Play Demonstrated

[This is the second of three articles by Tom O'Neill on playing methods demonstrated in the Lenz-Culbertson test of contract bridge bidding systems.]

New York, Jan. 21.—Whatever the recent Culbertson-Lenz contract bridge match demonstrated about methods of bidding, it did show that skilful playing of the cards is essential to any system. The expert counts on taking all the tricks possible. For that reason he often rushes in where the tyro would fear to tread.

With many contracts the play is simple and the bidding is the thing. With others the expert has to make use of deductions from bids, leads and the like to take essential tricks on the twelfth and thirteenth tricks of the hand.

THE NECESSITY OF INTIMATE KNOWLEDGE of end plays for successful contract was proved in the great match. End plays for an expert are on taking a certain suit, except as a last resort or unless a certain card is marked by bidding or otherwise, as being in a certain hand, the expert does not finesse, particularly when to do so would endanger a contract. He utilizes more certain methods.

Here is a typical end play:

North
Spades—4 3
Hearts—J 9 8 3
Diamonds—Q J 9 8 2
Clubs—A 6

West
Spades—K J 5
Hearts—10 8 6

South

Clubs—A Q 7

ELIMINATE CERTAIN SUITS

The contract was three no trump with South playing. West led the trey of diamonds. South winning the eight in dummy, West led the ace and queen of hearts, then led the ace and small heart. East winning with the king. East led a spade. South played the queen, West the king. West turned. West led his last spade and South took the trick with the ace. He then led a small diamond. West took the trick in dummy. South took the thirteenth heart and led up to the ace of diamonds. On the eleventh trick a diamond was led, which West took. Then he could do nothing but lead away from his king of clubs up to South's ace-queen.

End plays of this sort involved elimination of certain suits so that the lead up to a ten-ace is compulsory.

COMMUNICATE BURNS' BIRTH

Knights and Dames of the Thistle Gather For Function in Foresters' Hall

In true Scottish style Knights and Dames of the Thistle yesterday evening celebrated the birthday of Robert Burns at a special function in the Foresters' Hall. Approximately 200 members took part in the event, which included a dinner, concert and dance. Throughout the function the Scottish atmosphere was maintained.

Rev. Thomas Menzies, chairman for the evening, was introduced to the gathering by Past Knight T. Alexander. Mr. Menzies presented a brief address suitable to the occasion. A concert programme followed, contributed to by the following artists: Miss Petrie, Miss Minnie, R. Morrison, Miss E. Bennett, E. Davis, Miss G. Proctor, Miss Murdoch, Master Murdoch and W. Todd. A well-arranged supper followed, at which haggis, prepared by Mrs. H. Reston, was served. Mrs. R. Noble acted as convener.

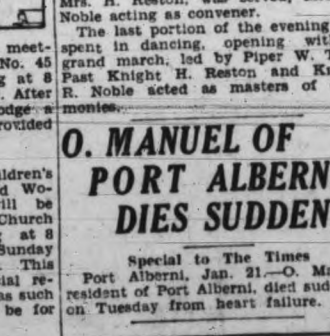

The last portion of the evening was spent in dancing, opening with a grand march, led by Piper W. Todd, resident of Port Alberni. Past Knight R. Noble acted as masters of ceremonies.

Many Appeals Merely Rackets Claims Worker

J. H. T. Falk of Vancouver Suggests City Permit Be Issued to Collect Funds

Urges Donors to Give Only to Organizations Issuing Audited Statements

Vancouver, Jan. 21.—"One-third to one-half of my working day is spent investigating rackets and near-rackets," J. H. T. Falk, executive director of the Vancouver Welfare Bureau, told members of the Wholesale Bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade in the Hotel Vancouver yesterday.

Mr. Falk cited many examples and made several recommendations.

1. That the city council pass a by-law requiring everybody appealing for funds to take out a permit.
2. That business men refuse to contribute to any organization which is not controlled by a non-beneficiary board of directors and which does not submit an annual audited statement.
3. That with respect to door-to-door appeals, the people make use of the existing social agencies instead of direct appeals.

CHILDREN'S TREAT

Lake Cowichan, Jan. 21.—T. H. Maynard gave an enjoyable treat at the "Ark" for the children of the Sunday school classes. Parents were invited to attend.

After presentation of prizes to the children refreshments were served under the supervision of Mrs. J. Robertson. Mr. Maynard sang a Hindu song and others sang songs appropriate to the occasion.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

Because as parents we are so eager to see the child stand up and face the world with cheerful countenance and straight back, we are inclined to be peevish about his slumping and sagging and drooping. If he does not stand erect, we punish him as fully for not having a good carriage as we would if he slumped him for failing to have bright eyes and red cheeks. It is not exercise, or constant reminders or traces that the child needs to achieve a good posture; it is abundant health of mind and body. Exercise in good healthy play, fresh air and wholesome food are the rounded backs, and are the only ones which will exert any permanent influence.

Prince Edward Island is the original home of silver fox farming, and it is from Canada's smallest province that the foundation stock has been obtained for the fur farms of the mainland of Canada and of other countries.

Ugly Duckling Makes Fortune in Beauty Talk

Sylvia Ulbeck, After Making Hollywood Stars Beautiful, Turns to Radio

By MYRTLE MEEKE FLOREY

SHOULDER BRACES WON'T CURE POOR SHOULDERS

It is well not to talk too often about posture, for any discussion of it is apt to be misunderstood. A poor posture, drooping shoulders, a prominent stomach and a caved-in chest are to be deplored, but in practically every case the poor posture is simply an indication, and not itself a matter for any particular distress or treatment.

The constant plea to "stand up straight" which falls on children's deaf ears, is a futile plan. Spare the pleases and spend time searching for the cause of the poor posture. When that is discovered and corrected, the child will stand up straight in the manner natural to all well and healthy children.

MORE NOURISHMENT

We are inclined to nag at the poor skeleton of a youngster to pull in his tummy and throw back his shoulders. Instead we should direct our efforts to putting fat on his bones and giving his undernourished muscles the proper strength and pull to hold his body in a good position. Children whose shoulders stick out like wings and whose abdomens protrude like round drums do not need corrective exercises nor do they need shoulder braces. They need nourishment and plenty of it.

We may think we want our children walking around like soldiers on parade; however, such a posture is not a natural, but an artificial one. A healthy child would need to make a constant effort to stand up like a ramrod during his busy active day. If he is healthy, his posture will be as changeable as his moods; he will bend and lop over and stand crooked and sag not permanently or unhealthily, but as postures in keeping with active play.

PHYSICAL AILMENTS

Any physical ailment is apt to advertise itself in the child's posture. The strain that comes from defective eyesight or defective hearing would inevitably lead to a drawing forward of the neck, and there would be a natural slumping of the shoulders as an evidence of this strain.

The child with an obstructed nose, from enlarged adenoids would be using up an excessive amount of energy just drawing air through his nose. He would develop the kind of slump that we all assume when we are suffering from a bad cold.

There are serious ailments, such as tuberculosis of the lungs or of bones, that are indicated by the resulting posture. It is not the posture that needs treatment, but the disease which causes it.

HEALTH FIRST

Because as parents we are so eager to see the child stand up and face the world with cheerful countenance and straight back, we are inclined to be peevish about his slumping and sagging and drooping. If he does not stand erect, we punish him as fully for not having a good carriage as we would if he slumped him for failing to have bright eyes and red cheeks. It is not exercise, or constant reminders or traces that the child needs to achieve a good posture; it is abundant health of mind and body. Exercise in good healthy play, fresh air and wholesome food are the rounded backs, and are the only ones which will exert any permanent influence.

SHOULDER BRACES WON'T CURE POOR SHOULDERS

It is well not to talk too often about posture, for any discussion of it is apt to be misunderstood. A poor posture, drooping shoulders, a prominent stomach and a caved-in chest are to be deplored, but in practically every case the poor posture is simply an indication, and not itself a matter for any particular distress or treatment.

The constant plea to "stand up straight" which falls on children's deaf ears, is a futile plan. Spare the pleases and spend time searching for the cause of the poor posture. When that is discovered and corrected, the child will stand up straight in the manner natural to all well and healthy children.

MORE NOURISHMENT

We are inclined to nag at the poor skeleton of a youngster to pull in his tummy and throw back his shoulders. Instead we should direct our efforts to putting fat on his bones and giving his undernourished muscles the proper strength and pull to hold his body in a good position. Children whose shoulders stick out like wings and whose abdomens protrude like round drums do not need corrective exercises nor do they need shoulder braces. They need nourishment and plenty of it.

We may think we want our children walking around like soldiers on parade; however, such a posture is not a natural, but an artificial one. A healthy child would need to make a constant effort to stand up like a ramrod during his busy active day. If he is healthy, his posture will be as changeable as his moods; he will bend and lop over and stand crooked and sag not permanently or unhealthily, but as postures in keeping with active play.

Heart Hungry

"Listen, Celia," she said. "I think perhaps I know what happened. I can't tell you about it now, but I'm going to be watchful. You must promise me not to say a word to anyone. I have my reasons."

"Why, why, why?" she asked. "Only it makes me feel dreadful!"

"Never mind. Run along and forget all about it."

Celia went out to join the crowd on the porch. Mrs. Parsons turned to mount the stairs. She hesitated on the first step, her face thoughtful. She was about to continue when she heard footsteps. John Mitchell appeared.

"Evelyn—you've found them?"

"She had forgotten that she was holding the pearls."

"Why—why, yes."

"Oh, I'm so glad. You don't know how upset I've been. It was such a terrible thing."

"There, there, John! You see it's all right. Yes, I found the pearls. I went upstairs again and made another search. And anyway, you know I didn't believe for a single minute that your daughter had anything to do with their disappearance."

Mitchell smiled. Evelyn Parsons, standing above him, looked everything but a woman as you are."

"You wouldn't!" he said fervently. "Evelyn, I hope she'll be as fine a woman as you are."

She excused herself and went on upstairs to put away the necklace. The plan had not worked. Never mind, there would be other ways!

When Celia reached the porch she found that the crowd there had diminished. List with Jimmie Webster and Walter Carr was displaying card tricks. The others were not in sight.

"The moonlight was as glamorous as it had been the night before. Celia walked over to the porch railing, seated herself and leaned her head back. The garden in the distance was a pattern of jetty shadows and pools of silver light. Fire flies flashed about the night breeze, faintly stirring, caressed her cheeks. Celia closed her eyes and thought she could hear Tod Jordan's voice. She was living again those moments after she and Jordan danced."

Celia's eyes opened. Someone was coming along the garden path. A man and a woman. From the shadows of the porch Celia could see them clearly, but they could not see her.

They walked very slowly, close together, the man's arm about the woman.

Celia shrank back, but in that instant she had recognized them. Jordan and Eve Brooks.

Eve Brooks was a married woman. She had no right to be flirting as she did with any man in sight. But Jordan—Celia winced. He had tried to make Celia believe he cared for just and other ways.

He had said it in words and in a thousand casual ways.

Celia kept to her hidden recess. She could not bear to let the others know she had seen. Jordan and Eve came up on the porch. They were laughing. Music from a distant radio studio began to pour forth from the living room. Two couples began dancing. Celia arose and started to enter, but Walter Carr detained her.

"Dance this one with me, won't you?" he said.

They danced and Celia carried her head very proudly. She laughed more at Carr's jokes than she had before. Then Courtney Brooks came from somewhere and asked her to dance with him. Brooks was an expert at the tango. He showed her some of the steps and Celia, though she was slow at learning, was laughing and her cheeks were flushed when at last she gave up the attempt.

Tod Jordan stepped beside her.

"I've been waiting for you," he said. "For a moment Celia was about to frame an excuse. Then she thought better of it, raised her arms and let him lead her into a fox trot. She was glad it was a fox trot instead of a waltz. In particular Celia did not want to hear again that melody about 'stars and steel guitars.' That was the song she and Jordan had danced to the night before."

They danced without talking. Jordan watched the girl curiously. She seemed disinterested.

"Tired?" he asked.

"Not at all. Do I look tired?"

"Oh, I just thought you might be."

It was not very exciting conversation. Presently he tried again.

"Celia, what have I done?"

"What do you mean?"

"You know what I mean. Something's wrong. You're different tonight."

"I didn't know it."

"But listen, if I've said or done anything that offended you, I'm sorry. I didn't mean to do anything like that. Honestly, I'm terribly sorry."

"It was almost too much to feel his dark eyes imploring her. But Celia bent her head. She had seen him with Eve Brooks with her own eyes."

"I haven't any idea what you're talking about," she told him glibly. "If you've done something you're sorry for it's too bad, but I don't see what I can do about it. Sorry, but I must run now and see when father wants to go home."

It was a somewhat disconcerted young Mr. Jordan who watched Celia's blue chiffon back disappear through the French window.

Celia met John Mitchell in the living room.

"I was just coming for you, Celia," he said. "Mrs. Parsons has persuaded me a few more days here in the country will be good for you. I'm driving back into town immediately, but you're to stay on and she'll bring you up Wednesday or Thursday. Give you a chance to swim and drive and fool around the garden to your heart's content. Like the idea?"

"Why—I think it's wonderful!"

"I thought you would. Wouldn't stay in town myself if there was any way to avoid it. I'm glad Evelyn made the suggestion."

Celia was relieved. It was so much pleasanter at Mrs. Parsons' home than in the dreary Grammarcy Park house. She went to tell her hostess how pleased she was.

One by one the week-end guests departed. There was another opportunity for Jordan to talk to Celia alone. She avoided him purposely. There was only his formal "good night" as they shook hands. Kate Duncan and Mrs. Parsons were nearby.

Celia went upstairs as soon as she could excuse herself. She undressed and got in bed immediately. She was awakened by a tap on the door.

CHAPTER XXII

Evelyn Parsons entered the room. She wore a fluttering turquoise negligee.

"Oh, my dear! I didn't think you were asleep—I wouldn't have wakened you."

Celia propped herself up on one rounded elbow and rubbed her eyes. She smiled.

"Guess I just dropped off the first thing. Has anything happened?"

"No. I only came in for a bedtime chat. Shut your eyes again! I'm going right away."

"Don't go! Anyhow I'm awake now. My—you look lovely in that shade of blue."

Mrs. Parsons wrapped the fragile garment about her and sat down on the opposite side of Celia's bed.

"Have a good time this evening!" she asked carelessly.

"Yes, I did. And I enjoyed the tennis this afternoon, too. List's a wonderful tennis player, isn't she?"

"List's good at all sports," Mrs. Parsons agreed, "except the rather important one of attracting the men. I noticed that a certain little young lady had more than dancing partners than she knew what to do with to-night."

"Oh, Mrs. Parsons—"

"No need to blush. I saw it all right. And why not? All men like to dance with such a pretty girl as you are, Celia. I must have you here often. You'll make all my parties successful."

It was the sort of talk to which a girl of Celia's age is susceptible. Mrs. Parsons casually brought Tod Jordan's name into the conversation.

"He was ever so popular on shipboard," Evelyn said. "My dear, there were women and girls who actually dogged his footsteps. He didn't pay the slightest attention to any of them. I guess that's why I couldn't help but notice how attentive he was from the minute he met you. Of course, he's that dark type that usually does attract."

"Only once? Why, that's impossible. I know he came to me half a dozen times this evening asking where he could find you. Celia Mitchell, I do believe you've been coquetting!"

Celia laughed.

"I couldn't," she said. "I wouldn't know how to."

"Tell that to someone else, my dear! Someone who's younger than Evelyn Parsons. Well, I only hope you won't be too hard on the smitten creature. Tell me—do you like these young men as well as the ones you knew in Baltimore?"

"Oh, there weren't any—I mean—"

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

Fancy breads of all kinds make delicious sandwiches to serve with various salads and afternoon tea. Orange bread particularly is good with tea because its distinctive flavor is most compatible with the hot beverage.

Plain bread and butter sandwiches are dainty and inviting, but if a more elaborate sandwich is wanted, cream cheese combined with nuts makes an excellent filling.

Either yeast bread or "quick" bread can be flavored with orange. The yeast must be made long before wanted; this rule is more desirable.

ORANGE BREAD (YEAST METHOD)

One cake compressed yeast, 1 cup orange juice, 2 tablespoons grated orange rind, 4 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1/2 cup candied orange peel, 1 egg yolk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup lukewarm water, 3 cups flour.

Dissolve yeast cake in sugar. Add orange juice, half the water, salt and 1 cup flour. Stir with spoon until smooth and let stand covered in a warm place until bubbly and doubled in bulk. Add remaining sugar, butter, orange rind and finely chopped candied peel and egg yolk. Mix well and add remaining flour. Use as little as possible and knead until smooth and elastic. Put into mixing bowl, cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk. Shape into a loaf and let rise again. When doubled in bulk, bake one hour in a moderately hot oven.

The "quick" method uses a baking powder dough and the bread has a sweeter taste than the yeast loaf.

ORANGE BREAD (QUICK METHOD)

Four cups pastry flour, 6 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons melted butter, 2 tablespoons grated orange rind, 1/2 cup orange marmalade, 1 egg, 1-1/3 cups milk.

Mix and sift flour, salt, sugar and baking powder. Beat egg until light and add with remaining ingredients to dry mixture. Mix thoroughly and turn into a well oiled bread pan. Let rise 20 minutes and bake 50 minutes in a moderate oven.

Either of the bread doughs, yeast or baking powder, can be made into biscuits or rolls and served hot-buttered.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast—Stewed prunes with lemon, cereal, lemon, raised buckwheat pancakes, syrup, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Russian beet soup, peanut butter and rye bread sandwiches, rice custard pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Broiled halibut, steak, baked macaroni and tomatoes, cabbage salad, brown bread, deep dish apple pie, milk, coffee.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily in a Barrel

(Copyright, 1932, by Howard R. Garis)

All of a sudden one morning, as Uncle Wiggily was curling his whiskers in the bedroom of his hollow stump bungalow, he heard down stairs a loud howling.

"Wah! Wah! Hu wah! Wah! Wah!" several voices howled so loudly and in such a strange way that the rabbit gentleman stopped curling his whiskers, ran to the head of the stairs and called.

"What's the matter down there?"

"Oh, nothing, Pa," answered the voice of Buster, a boy bunny.

"There must be something the matter," said Uncle Wiggily. "I heard some terrible howling. What is it?"

The howling sounded again:

"Wah! Wah! Hu wah! Wah! Wah!"

"What in the world is that?" asked the rabbit gentleman. "It sounds like ten bad chaps howling at once, and fearing that something might have happened, Uncle Wiggily jumped on the stair banister railing and slid down. He saw Buster, Custer, Duster and Muster, four of his bunny boys, jumping around a chair and howling as loudly as they could.

"What in the world are you doing, boys?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Oh, just playing Indian," answered Buster.

"But why do you howl so?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Indians always howl," answered Duster. "It shows we are going to kill. Get the boys and soon they were shooting wooden arrows at the chair which they pretended was an enemy."

"Well, if it's only a game, all right," said Uncle Wiggily. "But please don't howl so loud, or arrows don't catch at the clock. You had better play at going to school, or rather, you had better really go, for it is almost 9 o'clock."

"Wow! Wow! Wow!" howled the rabbit boys, just like Indians. Then they pretended to be running a race and so they reached school in time not so late.

"Well, I'm glad I stopped that howling, anyhow," said Uncle Wiggily, laughing. "And as long as I am down stairs I might as well start adventure hunting. I'll curl my whiskers another time." He hopped out of his bungalow, and went over the fields and through the woods, wondering what would happen. He had not gone very far before, all of a sudden, he heard a noise and, looking around he saw a black, bushy old bear coming toward him.

"Dear me!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "I didn't look for an adventure quite so soon. I don't want this bear to catch me and as he can run through the trees faster than I can, he may catch me. Where can I hide?"

Looking around Uncle Wiggily saw an empty barrel, standing in a drift of snow. It looked like a good place to hide and before the Bear reached him the rabbit gentleman gave a hop, skip and a jump and landed inside the barrel. So quick was the rabbit gentleman that the Bear did not notice him hide inside the empty barrel. But the Bear had, for a second, seen the rabbit and knew he could not be far off.

"I'll easily catch him!" growled the Bear. "I can follow his tracks in the snow." But luckily for Uncle Wiggily, after he had jumped into the barrel, a strong wind blew across the snow, filling the rabbit tracks with white flakes. So when the Bear drew near the barrel there was no way of telling which way the rabbit had gone. And the Bear never thought of looking inside the barrel, for never before had he ever found a rabbit in such a place.

"But he must be somewhere around here," growled the Bear, tramping back and forth in the snow near the barrel. "He can't be far away and if I stay around here long enough he is sure to come out sooner or later and I'll catch him. I can wait as long as he can. But I wonder where he is hiding."

Uncle Wiggily, looking through a crack in the barrel, saw the Bear marching up and down like a soldier on guard.

"If I wish he'd go away," thought the rabbit, "it would be a good idea. But this barrel, but it isn't going to be so easy getting out. Perhaps I shouldn't have jumped in. I wish that Bear would go away."

But the Bear didn't. Up and down he marched, getting more and more hungry every minute. And poor Uncle Wiggily had to stay hiding there, not daring to leave his safety barrel. Then, all of a sudden, Mr. Longears had a jolly thought.

"I'll tell you what it was to-morrow night. Then, if the pussy cat will dip the end of her tail in the red ink and make a picture of the pussy dog, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily, the Indian."

Horoscope

FRIDAY, JANUARY 22, 1932

Adverse planetary aspects appear to be strong in the horoscope for to-day. It is a day of misadventure and of great failure than for trying new ventures.

While this day prevails the mind may be inclined to waver and to avoid decisions. It is well to discipline oneself and to be wary of the future.

Women should be especially careful in using the hours of this day, the stars declare, because it will be so easy to be misled.

Uncle Wiggily will assume new charm by the introduction of old-fashioned customs that correspond with the revival of modes in dress that belongs to our grandmothers and great-grandmothers.

One of the features of the year will be attention to letter-writing, which is to become one of the most popular of occupations. Sensational fluctuations in the stock market are also predicted.

Persons whose birthdate is 11 have the stars and planets of real good fortune, but they should be careful of sentimental pitfalls.

Lord Byron, famous English poet, was born on this day, 1788. Others who have celebrated their birthday include Lord Francis Bacon, 1561, noted English philosopher; and George Henry Story, 1823, portrait painter, and Terence V. Powderly, 1849, labor leader.

Financial Independence for Women!

CHEQUES were mailed to many women in 1931 by this Company. These cheques were the proceeds of matured endowment policies—money saved through the yearly premiums, increased very considerably by dividends.

If they had died at any time while the policies were in force the principal sum, plus dividends payable, would have been paid immediately to their beneficiaries.

If you wish to know the annual deposit required for a Pension or Endowment Bond for yourself to start you on the road to independence, send the coupon below to our Head Office.

A few interesting examples:

A Furrier paid the first premium on policy No. 193,735, principal $2,000, at age 43. At age 53 a cheque for $2,000 plus dividends $457.24, was mailed to her.

A Housewife age 27 paid the first annual premium on policy No. 119,293, principal $2,000. At age 42 she received a Mutual Life cheque for $2,000 plus $592.23 dividends.

A Teacher at age 25 took out policy No. 84,447 for $1,000. At age 45 she received a Mutual Life cheque for $1,395.32—a substantial amount saved, plus the protection of her dependents for twenty years.

A CLEAN MOUTH

Did you ever get your mouth so gloriously clean you can almost taste the freshness of the air?

Not the momentary exhilaration following some druggist tooth-paste or antiseptic. But a mouth even a surgeon would call clean. So alkaline and sweet, that the breath is like new-mown hay. So free from acid your teeth and gums feel slippery to the tongue.

Of course you should brush your teeth! But it is far better to go without a tooth-brush than miss a daily alkaline rinse. Every night pour out a tablespoon of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia and slosh it back and forth in your mouth until it is gone. No water. Just the pure emulsion. Force it between the teeth with your tongue, and work it all round the gums.

Your teeth will stay white even if you smoke a lot. Your tongue will be pink and healthy-looking. People who don't know this use of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia just think their mouths are clean.

Dentists are urging this scientific protection from acid-mouth. And when you adopt the suggestion your dentist knows it on your next visit! You may go three or four years without a single new cavity when you alkalize your mouth in this manner and neutralize the acid that eats the enamel.

Get the genuine prescription preparation endorsed by the medical profession, Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. (Made in Canada.)

MIDGLEY HEADS LABOR COUNCIL

Trades Group Names Officers For Year at Annual Meeting

Succeeding Charles C. Chivers, who has held the post for the past two years, V. R. Midgley was elected president of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council yesterday evening. The oath of office was administered by the immediate past president following the election.

The annual meeting was held in the Labor Hall, Courtney Street. F. Curtis was named vice-president, and other officers are: Treasurer, R. W. Nunn; sergeant-at-arms, E. C. Brown; committee chairman, organizing, C. Hunt; legislative, Charles Chivers; press, T. Nute; and hall, A. Manson, all of whom composed the executive. Other members of committees will be named by the executive.

In his inaugural address the new president appealed for greater co-operation from local union organizations and expressed the hope that conditions would show a decided improvement before the end of the year.

SHELTER SOUGHT FOR WORKLESS

Committee Discusses Ways of Aiding Destitute Men Without Roof Over Head

A meeting of the Citizens' Shelter Committee convened by the mayor was held at the City Hall on Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of considering the provision of a day shelter for the unemployed men of the city.

While many other needs are being dealt with at the present time those responsible for the formation of the committee felt that considerable hardship is added by inclement weather to the lot of those who are out of work and for whom something is needed, corresponding to the recreation centres used by the troops during the war but on a smaller scale. It was agreed to make the venture a community effort, disclaiming any suggestion of sectionalism, and to seek to make the scheme another channel of goodwill and sympathy towards those who are facing adversity.

Several congregations, service clubs, and social service organizations were represented at the meeting, those present being unanimous as to the need to be met and in general agreement with the policy proposed, namely, to utilize existing facilities and to add to them when necessary.

It was decided to accept the offer of the men's sitting-room in the Salvation Army premises at 525 Johnson Street, and to make an appeal for thirty chairs for this room. The committee feels confident that no man need hesitate to accept the hospitality offered there, along with the recreational facilities available.

A subcommittee was appointed to investigate other premises in the event of larger quarters being needed and to estimate the financial needs in this connection, while the matter of supervision and entertainment was placed in the hands of another subcommittee.

WORK OF WEST COAST HOSPITAL

Special to The Times

Port Alberni, Jan. 21.—The annual meeting of the West Coast General Hospital Association was held in the City Hall on Tuesday. The president, W. R. H. Prescott, presented a satisfactory report, despite anxiety over finances during the year owing to general receipts from patients falling off to the extent of $2,000. A little over $20,000 was the total volume of business handled by the directors for the year.

As the matron is about to leave to be married, Dr. Hilton thought it fitting to record that the institution had never been better managed than under her regime.

A. T. Turner was added to the board of directors for a two-year term, and J. Clegg, Capt. Fry and H. Bradley will serve for three years.

Total number of patient days was 7,105 at a cost of $2,94, the lowest figure in the history of the institution, in the opinion of the president. There had been 234 operations during the year, and 200 uses of the X-ray equipment. Births numbered fifty-two. The average stay in the hospital per patient was 11.08 days, an increase over last year's figure.

Attempts to bring about a local contributory health insurance plan, affecting some 800 industrial employees, had not been successful, and it was not expected that such a plan would come into effect until provincial government legislation might make it a general practice.

Although the affairs of the hospital were in excellent condition, the president pointed out that even a temporary cessation of logging operations or the outbreak of epidemic disease would strain the resources of the institution.

Experiments have proved that the sweet potato, which in the past has been considered a tropical plant, can be grown with success in Alberta.

Magnesia Best for Your Indigestion

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomachs no longer trouble them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health.

Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful antacid and food corrector, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use. (Advt.)

8,000,000 IDLE
PROBLEM FOR U.S.

With 15 Depressions in 100 Years, Time Something Was Done, Says Ritchie

He Urges Industry Provide For Jobless to Avoid State Unemployment Insurance

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 21.—The problem of America's 8,000,000 jobless rests squarely on the shoulders of business and industry.

Business and industry should make provision for caring for their employees in times of depression. If they do not, says Hoover, we have passed through fifteen major depressions in the past century. If we didn't have unemployment insurance, we wouldn't have Socialism, Communism, Hitlerism and the like.

"These are preventive days," Governor Ritchie began. "There is prevention of illness by health measures, prevention of accidents by safety measures and many other forms of prevention.

"We can't prevent unemployment, but we can do something to alleviate it when it comes.

"We do have periods of recurring unemployment. It is weather. It is a depression in the past century. If we didn't have unemployment insurance, we wouldn't have Socialism, Communism, Hitlerism and the like.

"WE MUST LOOK AHEAD"

"I think we should look ahead with reference to a man's job in the same way that we look ahead to other things.

"The best method that I know of is to set aside some kind of insurance reserve when times are good so we will have that to draw on.

"There are two ways this can be done:

"The federal or state governments can raise or contribute to such a fund.

"Industry can raise such a fund with labor contributing its share.

"Various European countries have found that a government unemployment insurance fund is a light and easy burden on the taxpayers. Such plans have drained the treasuries in Germany and Britain.

"We don't want anything like that. We want to avoid it.

"Industry and business should assume this responsibility. It is a social obligation that belongs to them.

"They set aside a reserve for dividends so that stockholders can be paid when depression comes.

"They set aside a fund for depreciation so their machinery and equipment can be taken care of.

"They have a sinking fund for protection of their bond issues.

"They make provision to take care of injured employees.

"About the only thing that they don't set aside for is labor, upon which all business and industry depends.

"MUST PROTECT BENEFICIARIES"

"Industry and business, which get complete benefit out of labor when times are good, should make some provision for protecting labor when times are bad.

"Such a plan is fundamentally sound. Of course, there can be raised against it many objections like seasonal unemployment, etc. But these objections can be ironed out. The principle stands.

"About fifteen large concerns, one of which is the General Electric Company, already have plans of this kind. About twenty industries here in Baltimore are already at work on such plans.

"Various plans have been put forward. There are details of application, of course—such as the system, proportion and source of contributions to the fund—that must be worked out. But far-seeing business men realize its necessity.

"However, neither this nor any other plan can stop recurrent unemployment. At intervals, hard times are bound to come. But when hard times do come such a plan would help out and alleviate the situation until good times return.

"We can't have 8,000,000 persons out of work in this country without tremendous pressure being brought to bear upon Congress to do something about it. If business and industry don't accept this responsibility, government will, and the danger is that something like Britain's or Germany's burdensome plan will be forced upon us.

"With fifteen major depressions in the past 100 years, it is about time we began looking ahead to the next one before it closes in on us. If business and industry don't take hold of this situation, Congress or the state legislatures—or both—will do it and we are very likely to apply measures that would be a huge drain on our treasury.

"As for relieving existing unemployment distress, Governor Ritchie believes this the duty of local relief agencies and believes that they will be able to do it with their own relief funds—certainly in his own state of Maryland. If not, he says, then assistance becomes the duty of the city government, next the state government, and finally, the national government. For, he says, protection of citizens is the purpose of all government.

Alberta Farmer Body Discusses Political Moves

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Jan. 20.—Farmers of the prairies may go into the next general election with a united front and a new political policy. Yesterday the United Farmers of Alberta at their annual convention here instructed their executive to get in touch with other farming groups in the west with a view to formulating a policy.

From their strong position in their own province Alberta farmers are seeking closer alliance with other organizations in order to increase the strength of the agrarian group at Ottawa.

Legislation to require all boxes of apples sold to be of a net weight of forty pounds and to have the weight stamped on the box was asked for in a resolution passed. It was claimed many boxes of apples sold in Alberta were under weight.

Home-canned Beans Caused Death Of Spokane Woman

Spokane, Jan. 21.—While an aviator was speeding through fog from Portland with a serum to combat deadly botulism, Mrs. J. A. Dewar, stricken after eating home preserved string beans, died in a hospital here Tuesday evening.

Tex Rankin, noted northwest pilot, took off from Portland at 8 o'clock in response to urgent appeals from Spokane Mrs. Dewar's life. She died at 11 p.m., just before Rankin was due at Pasco. Mrs. Dewar ate the beans and became ill several hours later.

PORT ALBERNI

Port Alberni, Jan. 21.—The Misses Ellen and Blanche Wood were bridge hostesses at their home Wednesday evening when they entertained with four tables.

Miss F. Noble secured the prizes for highest score. The invited guests included Mrs. A. D. Plant, Mrs. Albert Wood, Mrs. G. H. Henwick, Mrs. T. Bird, Mrs. Gordon Lammie, Misses Gertrude Hillas, Evelyn Heines, Alberta Hobson, Florence Noble, Elva McLean, Mabel Noble, D. Probert, Martha McDonald, Charlotte McKenzie, Doris Bird and Christina Sutherland.

The raising of apples in Nova Scotia dates back to 1635 and they have been grown in commercial quantities for the last half century.

SAANICH ELECTIONS

To the Editor:—Will you kindly permit me through the columns of your paper to again sincerely thank all those of Ward Six who worked for and supported me in my election last Saturday.

I can only promise to do my best in these anxious and trying times we are going through. L. C. HAGAN

West Road, Saanichton, January 20, 1932.

APPRECIATION

To the Editor:—I wish to thank you for the fair reports published in your paper on my election campaign in Saanich.

I also thank the electors for their support and confidence placed in me. JOHN REID

837 Darwin Road, Victoria, Jan. 19, 1932.

RE ESQUIMALT ELECTIONS

To the Editor:—May I through your paper thank all who supported me so well last Saturday. Standing for my first time it was very pleasant to think that out of a total ballot of 862, there were 311 cast in my favor. Although defeated, I am not discouraged, and hope at a future date to try once more. Wishing every success to those who were elected, and thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your past favors.

THE CANADIAN CENSUS RETURNS

To the Editor:—I have not seen an official return of the Dominion census taken by the government of Canada last year. The figures published in the newspapers, giving the populations of the provinces and the leading cities of Canada, vary from time to time to a considerable extent.

I would like the information to paste in my scrap book, and if you publish this letter it may catch the eye of some government official, and a report of the official census may soon be forthcoming. H. C.

SAVE THE GOVERNMENT

To the Editor:—I would like to say a few words about the new ruling class, the school, to salute the King, and sing God Save the King every morning. Could the minister not persuade Premier Toimle and his cabinet, with the staff of the Parliament Buildings, to sing God Save the King and salute the Union Jack every morning on the lawn? Or, if the morning was not suitable for the ministers, to have the ceremony in the afternoon?

It would certainly be a great tourist attraction for our visitors to witness. Also it would show our school children and the general public that our government is doing all in its power to live up to the new ruling. L. W. LIOGETT

R.R. No. 2, Victoria, Jan. 18, 1932.

BUILDING SCHEME

To the Editor:—Regarding the suggestion divided amongst the Trades and Labor Council that the city embark in the house building business for the benefit of the skilled workers, here is another scheme of a more independent nature and which could be carried out at no cost to the taxpayers.

Let the city donate one building lot for a start. Let the various supply firms give a few months' credit for lumber, hardware, cement, etc. Not one firm in Victoria would refuse this to any responsible party. Then let the Trades and Labor Council supply the necessary unemployed mechanics to erect, say, a six-roomed house. Such a house could be built in four weeks instead of the six to eight weeks now. The Trades and Labor Council do their own selling to save expenses. If the house is sold for cash, the supply firms to be paid off and the balance to be deducted from the participants. If sold on terms, any reputable financial firm will do the financing, and the workers still get paid. The house sold, start another one, and so on. Naturally the wages will not be union wages, but half a loaf is better than no bread at all; and $4 a day is a

TELS PROGRESS OF LOCOMOTIVE

A. Sturrock Reviews Century of Development of Railway Engines

Modern Giants Outcome of Need For Quicker Steam Generation

The development of the railroad locomotive, from the gear driven machine produced in 1813 by Hedley in England to turbine powered giants now under experiment, was related to the Rotary Club this afternoon at the Empress Hotel by Archibald Sturrock, master mechanic of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway.

President J. P. Watson introduced the speaker as the third generation of a family of locomotive experts. His grandfather had invented engine accessories now coming into general use, and his son was making a name for himself in the United States as a locomotive expert.

Mr. Sturrock told of Hedley, the colliery engineer, and his gear engine, and sketched the early experiments of George Stephenson prior to his production of the Planet, which preceded the famous Rocket. He described how the latter was adapted to the Sturrock model and developed the Sturrock Lion, which made fifty miles an hour by means of driving wheels ten feet in diameter.

A swift review of the development of various types of North American locomotives was given by Mr. Sturrock to illustrate the constant effort to permit of quicker and larger steam production. Modern locomotives turn water to steam by the flash method, water being instantly converted as it enters the boiler. The recent British record of seventy-seven miles an hour had been set by a train which weighed 325 tons, equivalent to only two of the passenger cars used in Canada. The passenger cars used in Canada are more recent types of North American engines designed to permit regular runs of 1,000 miles, compared to the previous practice of 125 miles between the new types weighed more than 1,000,000 pounds.

LIMIT CONSTRUCTION

The newest type of engine was built of great cast units to avoid expensive maintenance. The frame was all one casting, the water reservoir was another, and the cylinders were a third unit. Steam pressures up to 1,000 pounds per square inch were being experimented with, the inch being converted to a turbine engine, and told of new types of boiler being used in England and the United States.

One of the most interesting locomotives now under test was a turbine engine, equipped with full type boiler, which was being used in practice. The type should prove highly economical, he commented.

The climate of Canada was the reason known as far as transportation was concerned. Mr. Sturrock paid warm tribute to the men who drove and maintained locomotives under such conditions, coupled with praise for engineering ability and workmanship. He remarked in closing that if Canadian railways were to follow the steps of the pioneers, they could not go far astray.

SAANICH SEEKS ANOTHER GRANT

Trustees Will Ask Province to Help Finish Mount View High School

Saanich will appeal to Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe for a supplementary grant towards the cost of completing Mount View High School on Carey Road. The application will be based, in part, upon an assurance received from the Minister of Education that, if the grant of $17,000 that last year was insufficient, the board would be at liberty to make a supplementary application.

Yesterday evening the Saanich School Board recalled the trustees' offer of assistance towards $30,000 of the grant of $17,000 towards the present scheme being acceptable only because of assistance by Mr. Hinchliffe of the increase of $12,000 in the grant towards teachers' salaries "would continue for all time." In view of the withdrawal of that pledge, recently by the minister, the board has agreed that a good case could be made out for additional assistance towards completion of Mount View school.

SPECIAL GRANTS CUT

The board was advised that about $1,000 would have to be made good by Saanich following announcement by the Department of Education that no further grants would be made in the current school year towards the cost of the following courses: Home economics, manual training, agricultural, commercial, chemical, technical, vocational education, and physical education. The board also was advised that the school libraries is also to be withdrawn.

Trustees believed that withdrawal of the grants was contrary to the School Act and the finance committee was instructed to investigate the situation.

NEWS REEL SOUND MACHINE HERE SOON

The sound moving picture machine which will be used on the Coast by the Associated Screen News Ltd., delivered by the Northern Electric Company at Montreal yesterday, will be forwarded to Victoria as soon as it has passed tests in Montreal. George I. Warren, Victoria and Island Publicity Commissioner, announced this morning.

From the machine was made to him during his trip east last year. It will fill a long felt need and will be the more valuable here now, since the recent tariff imposed by the Dominion Government makes the temporary importation of United States machines impossible owing to prohibitive duties.

NEWS IN BRIEF

William C. Angus was elected a member of the Rotary Club this afternoon.

The P.E.O. dance will be held to-morrow night at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club. Dancing will be from 9 to 1 o'clock to the strains of Ozard's Orchestra.

Canadian Trade Members Say Accounts of Disturbance in Honolulu Exaggerated

Members of the Canadian trade party which went to Honolulu headed by Hon. H. H. Stevens in connection with the New Zealand treaty negotiations, who have returned here, are of the opinion that reports of racial strife in Honolulu, following the Kahahawai murder, were much exaggerated. Stevens, the leader of the delegation, and is borne out by Hugh Dalton and Bruce A. McKelvie, who were members of the tour.

Mr. Dalton, secretary of the B.C. branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, is in the city to-day from Vancouver, making his first business visit here since his return from Honolulu. Mr. McKelvie, managing editor of The Colonist, is also back in the city.

The picture won first place to-day, the secretary and officials of the commission will sift through the mass of evidence and submissions which are now in hand. The railway companies, well as Ottawa organizations, have laid before the commission evidence which must be gone over and made ready for the commissioners.

PHOTO OF HORSES WINS THIRD PLACE IN WORLD CONTEST

Third place in the Eastman Kodak world-wide photographic contest for amateur photographers of animals, has been awarded Dr. Yaron F. Smith for his delightful camera snap of four white horses drinking at a fountain.

The picture won first place in the division in the Canadian district competition and was sent to Geneva to participate in the world competition. First place in the animal section went to Germany and second place was awarded a Los Angeles entrant.

BROKER APPEAL COMES TO END

J. W. de B. Farris and G. L. Fraser Fight Keen Legal Battle Over $30,000 Case

The appeal of Solloway, Mills & Co. against the judgment of Mr. Justice Murphy of the B.C. Supreme Court, awarding $30,000 to George Lockett, of Seattle, came to an end this afternoon before the Court of Appeal.

It was the fourth day through which J. W. de B. Farris, K.C., counsel for the appellant brokers, and G. L. Fraser, of Vancouver, counsel for Mr. Lockett, had fought a strenuous legal battle.

Mr. Lockett had won in the Supreme Court on the grounds that Solloway, Mills & Co. did not actually fill his orders by executions on the exchange, and as a result he had a right to the return of $30,000 of bonds and $1,000 of Vancouver Service stock he put up as collateral for his operations on a 30 per cent margin basis in the Canadian market.

Mr. Farris claimed the collateral had been pledged under the usual brokerage arrangement and that the right to the bonds and stock was his. He also appealed against the admission of the evidence from the Solloway-Mills books, which had been improperly taken and later had to be handed back on the grounds that under the common law disclosure of incriminating documents could not be enforced.

Mr. Fraser declared it was within the discretion of the judge as to whether the books should be produced. "It is a question of whether the judge could have ordered these books to be produced," said Chief Justice Macdonald.

"The judge had no discretion at all," said Mr. Farris. "It is law that these books cannot be produced."

"What is the law with regard to it; the judge has to decide whether the claim for privilege is bona fide or not," said the Chief Justice. "Here you have charges of false pretences or fraud, which would render the documents admissible to prosecutions. They say that if these books were produced that would give the foundation for prosecution."

Mr. Fraser referred to letters which the Attorney-General had written Mark Cosgrave, giving him assurance that there would be no more prosecutions of Solloway, Mills in this province.

"But does that bind any person who wishes to prosecute Solloway, Mills?" asked the Chief Justice. He went on to bring that phrase into the case, by declaring he did not think it had any bearing on the major submission.

"It is perfectly untenable that the books are not part of the case," said Mr. Justice MacPhillips.

ENTERS DENIAL

Mr. Farris denied that the transactions put through by Solloway, Mills were all fraud or just bookkeeping entries, as charged by Mr. Fraser. He said that there were transactions of shares did not support that charge. There was also the fact that where there was a shortage of shares in the market, they could be obtained from the Toronto office of the company. There was also the fact that shares were pledged to the banks and that the last twenty-four hours of the day, it was often easier to go out and buy or borrow them from another broker in town.

Mr. Fraser asked that the justices should hurry their judgment in this case, if it were going to be in his favor, because of similar cases pending in Ontario.

The Chief Justice said there were already half a dozen other important cases in which judgments were being awaited by those who appeared before the court. He intimated that Mr. Fraser would likely have to wait until the March sitting for his judgment.

MANY ATTENDED BAPTIST MEETING

Central Church Told Extension Work Progressing in Greater Victoria

Central Baptist Church held its annual meeting yesterday evening with a large attendance. The board of management consisted of the deacons, A. C. Combs, H. Masters, W. A. Hick, B. J. Smith, P. Cornick (treasurer), T. Renfrew, and four other members, S. Rev. A. Bragg, G. Garland and G. W. C. Clark.

Rev. J. B. Rowell announced that the annual supper would be held on February 10. Donald George, secretary of the Young People's Society, presented a favorable report, mentioning exchange of visits with the Young People of Sluggert Memorial.

Extension of the Baptist Church in Greater Victoria was progressing favorably, the Sluggert Memorial Building at Brentwood Bay was flourishing and work was progressing favorably at Luxton. The work of Rev. P. Tapscott was specially mentioned.

Malt Extract Plant Will Be Operated Here

Conversion of the Silver Spring Brewery on the Esquimalt Road into a manufacturing plant for the production of malt extract is to be commenced immediately by the Coast Breweries Ltd.

The directors contemplate making malt extract at the Silver Spring plant, and that is all we can say at present. The Silver Spring Brewery, one of Victoria's oldest industries, was controlled until recently by Harry Maynard. Details of the new plant are available at present, but it is understood that malt extract will be manufactured and exported on a large scale.

SHANGHAI MOBS ARE BROKEN UP

Strong Police Squads Protect Foreign Quarter While Chinese-Japanese Brawl

By Morris J. Harris, Associated Press Correspondent

Shanghai, Jan. 21.—Authorities of the international settlement here adopted extraordinary precautions to-day to prevent a possible repetition of the riotous clash between Chinese and Japanese mobs in which two persons were killed and many wounded yesterday.

Heavy police patrols, the majority of whom are White Russians, were established throughout the Japanese section of the foreign settlement, where numerous street brawls between Chinese and Japanese have taken place. During the last twenty-four hours these patrols, equipped with steel helmets, rifles and bayonets, instead of police equipment, have dispersed gatherings of Japanese and Chinese hanging over the Manchurian controversy and concomitant disputes.

Japanese consular officials, while seeking to restrain their nation from overt action, said ample measures would be taken if necessary to protect Japanese residents, who total upwards of 80,000, before the settlement stood by while additional marines were aboard several Japanese ships in the river.

Dispatches from Tokyo said the Japanese minister of the navy had ordered an aircraft carrier, four destroyers and a special landing party to Shanghai as a result of the situation, and had instructed additional craft to be ready at the Sasebo naval base for sailing.

FIGHTS REPORTED

Tokyo, Jan. 21.—Thirty Chinese were killed, many were wounded and one Japanese soldier was wounded to-day in a clash between Japanese troops and Chinese "irregulars" near Tanshan, Manchuria, a War Office statement said this evening.

Another encounter north of Chinchow, sixteen Chinese were killed and nineteen captured. There were no Japanese casualties in these encounters. The War Office casualty list, covering the Manchurian campaign from September 18, placed the number of Japanese killed at thirty and the number of wounded at 600. In addition about 400 soldiers are still in hospitals with frostbite.

U.S. LUMBER DUTIES DEBATED AT WASHINGTON

Associated Press

Washington, Jan. 21.—Little hope of any immediate action permitting relief to the wood, pulp and lumber industry was expressed yesterday by Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, because of President Hoover's emergency programme.

However, proponents of a plan whereby a customs charge could be levied on products from countries which have changed their monetary standards and abandoned the gold standard went ahead with their campaign programme.

Among them is Representative Horr, Republican, Washington, who said a plan to amend tariff anti-dumping provisions so as to exclude such products was being discussed by several House members, including Representative Hawley, Republican, Oregon, and Representative Hadley, Republican, Washington.

Mr. Horr has introduced a bill which would authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to levy against all products from countries with depreciated currency a charge equal to the difference between the value of the money and that of the United States. It would be applied to all commodities, whether now paying duty or on the free list.

FURNITURE STORE FIRE IS NIPPED

Damage Confined By Prompt Action of Firemen at Smith & Champion

Prompt action by the fire department yesterday evening saved valuable stock in the furniture store of Smith & Champion Limited, Douglas Street, from destruction when fire broke out in the basement. The flames were quickly quelled and the actual damage was confined to between $500 and $600, according to a rough estimate this morning. Smoke caused much of the damage.

Firemen fighting the blaze were forced to use gas masks owing to the density of the smoke but made a quick job of extinguishing the blaze when they got to it. The fire started among some mattresses and packing material in the basement and if it had not been caught in time would probably have resulted in a loss running into many thousands of dollars.

Canadian Rugby All-stars Do Well in Opening Match in Japan

Roger Wilson Makes Fine Showing Against Canadian Champion

National Hockey League Goalies Favor Straight-edged Puck

CANADA'S touring rugby all-stars got off to a flying start yesterday on their tour of Japan by vanquishing the Waseda (Tokyo) University fifteen 29 to 13 in their opening match of the seven-game series. It was a great victory for the young Canucks, and will give them confidence for the remainder of their games. When the touring team left Victoria over two weeks ago they were very skeptical about their showing in their first match, but from the reports it appears as if the Canadians were in first-class trim. And then, again, it must be remembered that nearly every member of the team was afflicted by sea sickness on the trip and it would take them some time to regain their land legs after leaving the ship. The Canadians also knew that the Japanese would be hard to beat. They failed to score a single win over the Japanese when they visited British Columbia last year.

It was pleasing to Victoria officials, players and fans that Campbell Forbes and Frank Skilling, two local members, had starred in the opening match. Forbes has long been recognized as one of the finest forwards ever developed in British Columbia, while Skilling, when playing his real game, is a brilliant back. And when one glances over the line-up of the Waseda fifteen and sees such names as Ka and Ota, members of the Japanese all-star team that toured British Columbia last year, included, it can be easily seen that the Canadians had no weak team to face. The 29 to 13 score at half-time indicates that the Canadians cut loose with everything they had right from the start, and after securing a comfortable lead, set up for the second half.

Roger Wilson, prominent Victoria athlete, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson of the Uplands, who is attending McGill University, and is holder of the provincial and intercollegiate heavyweight boxing championship, put on a great scrap on a charity card at Montreal recently against Lighthart Hamilton, Canadian amateur champion. This pair of boxing champions, the bitter end of a long and hard-fought old-fashioned slugger, combined with more than a fair amount of fistic skill. After three fast and furious rounds, Lighthart was given the decision by a narrow margin, yet Wilson had been very much in the fight all the way, the greater experience and coolness of Hamilton had proved the deciding factor.

The Montreal Star described the bout as follows: "Wilson got away to a fast start, using his powerful right with stunning effect time and again. Lighthart took things coolly despite considerable hammering and entered the second round a little behind the McGill man, but confident that the tide would soon turn. The second round was practically even, although Wilson appeared to be weakened by the staunch straight lefts of the Dominion champion. The last round saw Wilson go in doggedly, realising that his only chance lay in carrying the attack to his fresher opponent."

"Wilson held the offensive for about a minute, then faltered, in the fifth, and was forced back slowly and surely until at the end the Hamilton boy had the situation well in hand."

George Hainsworth, goalie of the Montreal Canadiens, declares that practically all the goalies of the major league are highly averse to the "Ross puck," the round-edged disc being used in most of the games. Hainsworth says that in Boston, when Canadiens were beaten 5 to 0, the puck took one of the most freakish curves he has ever seen. The shot seemed to be coming on his right side. He reached for it on the left, but the disc shot sharply and suddenly, entering the net on the left side. The round-edged puck rolls much longer than the old puck when it is spinning about its edge. The round-edged disc also has a tendency to shoot up into the air when it strikes a small obstacle on the ice, whereas the straight-edged puck tends to slide through the straight-edged cuts through it. Several teams have returned to the straight-edged puck by mutual consent, which is all right with the goalies.

Pete Cerkan Wins Over Veteran Gross

Bellingham, Wash., Jan. 21.—Pete Cerkan, blonde light heavyweight, had little difficulty in battering out a two-fisted victory over tough old Eddie Gross, veteran of the main event of the American League fight card here yesterday evening. Kracken, Seattle, former Norwegian light heavyweight amateur champion, took all the battle out of "Battling" Nelson, Benton, in what was supposed to be a six-round semi-final. Hanson held up his hands in despair in the third round after leading too often with his chin. Johnny Foster, game Vancouver welterweight, scored a quick knockout over Allen Frank, La. Conner Indian. Jimmy Murphy, Vancouver, B.C. was knocked out by Billy Murphy, Bellingham, in the second round.

Brilliant Young Forward Scores Thirteen Points as His Team Chalks Up 26-to-10 Victory to Capture Championship of Second Half of Local Senior "A" League; Same Clubs Will Open Play-off for City Title Next Week; C.P.S. Defeat Visiting Castle Rock Five 33 to 18; Blue Ribbons Win

Muzz Patrick's brilliant offensive play, coupled with the fine work of their rear line of defence, carried the Commercials to a thrilling 26-to-10 victory over the Buyats, first half champions, in the senior "A" men's basketball game at the High School gym yesterday evening. This win gave the Commercials the championship of the second half, and it is expected a three-game play-off for the city title, between these two clubs will open next Wednesday. Yesterday evening's game was one of the roughest seen in the senior division this year with both clubs being offenders.

In the other two games on the card the C.P.S. took the visiting Castle Rock quintette into camp 33 to 18, while the Blue Ribbons practically clinched senior "B" women's honors by turning back the Standard Steam Laundry 25 to 4.

The feature senior "A" men's game opened with the Buyats having the better of the play, and at the end of the first four minutes of play they were on the long end of a 2 to 0 lead. The Commercials then went on one of their great scoring rampages, and before the half had ended, they were on the long end of an 18 to 4 count. With the exception of two long shots by Chuck Chapman, all their baskets were scored off rebounds.

The second half produced much rougher and closer basketball, in fact at times, players on both sides appeared as though they were training for places on the next touring rugby team. The Commercials managed to increase their lead by another two points in this half.

Muzz Patrick was the outstanding player on the floor, working his way in close to the basket where his shooting was excellent. He collected thirteen points, half of his team's total.

The teams and individual scores follow:

Commercials—Craig, Engelson (2), A. Chapman (2), Jones (1), C. Chapman (2), Patrick (13), Rose and Little (2).

Buyats—Cudlip, MacDonald, Patrick, Forbes, Caddell (4), Shepherd (3), McKenzie, Brown (2), and Bissell (1).

Holding the C.P.S. until fourteen minutes from time, the Commercials then took the visiting team into camp 33 to 18. In the first half the visitors left the floor on the short end of a 16 to 4 count, and for the first six minutes of the second half they drew even at 16 to 16. From this stage of the game on Stew Skilling and Jack McKenzie put on a great exhibition, scoring baskets from all angles. Skilling collected twelve points while McKenzie, Hobson and McCulloch were the pick of the lower.

The teams and individual scores follow: McCormack Lumber Co.—Fugett (4), McCulloch (4), Hobson (4), Ferry (3), Little (1), and Harris (1).

C.P.S.—Wachter (6), Viggers, Butler, Davis (1), Skilling (12), McKenzie (11), Wright and Fagerberg.

Playing great basketball from the opening whistle, the Blue Ribbons had some trouble taking the Standard Steam Laundry girls into camp. The Ribbons took a 11 to 2 lead in the first half, and increased it throughout the final period.

Alan Lemarquand refereed the exhibition game while Macdonald handled the other two.

The teams and individual scores follow: Blue Ribbons—B. Peden (4), T. Rennie, M. Peden (5), M. Wilson (6), B. Bethel (6), B. Boyce (2), and E. Peden.

Standard Steam—H. Scott (4), L. Foubister (4), G. Carmichael, V. Foubister, P. MacLoughlin, D. Rendie and N. Scott.

Lindrum, with Tom Newman, English professional, will sail for Canada on February 13 for a series of exhibition matches. The first will be started at Montreal on February 22 and afterwards he has engagements at Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

Five Canadian Teams Enter Dogsled Races

Lake Placid, N.Y., Jan. 21.—Twelve teams, five from Canada and seven from the United States, yesterday had entered the dogsled races, a new event on this year's Olympics. The race will be twenty-five miles a day on two successive days, February 6 and 7. Outstanding among the entrants is the veteran Leonard Seppala, entered from St. Joe's Station, Que., who became world famous when he carried antitoxin to Nome, Alaska, during a diphtheria epidemic a few years ago. The Canadians entered are Jack Defato, Ottawa, Ont.; Emilie St. Godard, The Pas, Man.; Harry Wheeler, St. Joe's Station, Que.; Leonard Seppala, from St. Joe's Station, Que., who became world famous when he carried antitoxin to Nome, Alaska, during a diphtheria epidemic a few years ago. Davies Brothers Show Up Well In Bouts In Seattle

Albie Fights Heady Scrap to Take Six-round Decision From Clever Leonard Bennett, Detroit; Rallie After Being Knocked Down in First Round; Jumb Drops Unpopular Verdict to "Wildcat" Carter; Do Snell Puts Eddie Volk Away

Seattle, Jan. 21.—Two youngsters from Victoria, Albie and Jumbo Davies, made their return to the ring on the card at the Crystal Pool yesterday evening, and received a great reception from the packed house. Albie gave a clever exhibition of boxing and counter punching to win a popular decision from Leonard Bennett, Detroit welterweight, over the six-round route. Jumb, although not in first-class condition after his long lay-off, put up a great scrap against the clever "Wildcat" Carter, and the crowd booed the decision in favor of the colored lad, the majority figuring the Canadian was at least worthy of a draw after having the wildcat guessing in the last round.

After being knocked down for a count in the first round Albie came back strong to trade punches with Bennett, and generally outsmarted him in the close exchanges and kept him with lefts and rights. He came in in the final round with the ring in an apparent bad way and had Bennett in a bad way.

BOROTRA WILL RETIRE FROM TENNIS PLAY

Noted French Davis Cup Star States He Is Too Old For Davis Cup Play

Efforts Being Made to Have Him Reconsider; R. LaCoste in Better Health

Paris, Jan. 21.—French sporting circles were much disturbed today over an article published in Tennis and Golf, announcing that Jean Borotra, noted French tennis player, does not intend to play as a member of the Davis Cup team this year.

Efforts are being made to have him reconsider his decision, because it is felt his absence from the team would threaten France's defence of the trophy. Borotra said pressure of business, fatigue and the fact he is thirty-three years old made him feel it advisable to retire from Davis Cup competition.

The health of Rene Lacoste is much better this year and the belief has been expressed by some that he might play, but Lacoste told newspapermen he would not play on the team, because he has not time to get into shape.

The chief burden of the defence of the cup now rests on Henri Cochet.

As the referee was counting he heard the time-keeper call out "all out," and the referee raised Snell's arm in victory.

GIANTS SIGN UP LINDSTROM

Versatile Fielder of New York National League Club Comes to Terms

New York, Jan. 21.—The hold-out list of the New York Giants, for a time the most virulent in either major league, was further reduced yesterday with the receipt of Freddie Lindstrom's signed contract.

The "handyman" of John McGraw, sent the document in from Sarasota, Fla., with an accompanying note that he was "perfectly satisfied" with the terms. Whether the versatile fielder was asked to take a cut in salary, Secretary Jim Tierney would not say.

Only three Giants remain as avowed holdouts. They are Bill Terry, first baseman; Freddie Fitzsimmons, pitcher, and Fred Lench, outfielder.

Contract matters, meantime, were a standstill in the New York Yankees camp. Bill Dickey, slugging catcher, was reported not only unwilling to sign for $10,000, a reduction of 20 per cent, but determined to get a raise.

Brooklyn received a combination of good and bad news. The veteran John Pius Quinn, one of the few surviving spitball pitchers, sent in his signed contract for 1932, but word came from San Francisco that Gordon Slad, young infielder, and Ernest Lombard, husky catcher, were returning, unsigned, the papers offering them the same salary as last year.

Toronto, Jan. 21.—When Winnipeg, Canada's Olympic hockey representatives, play in Toronto January 29, on their way to Lake Placid, they will likely be called upon to meet Toronto's two top-notch teams, National Seafoam and Mariboro, the same night. It is proposed to have Mariboro take the place of the Winnipeg team for the first thirty minutes of the game and National for the last half of the fixture.

Larry Gains Will Meet McCorkindale In Leicester Ring

Leicester, Eng., Jan. 21.—Dan McCorkindale, heavyweight boxer, will fight Larry Gains, Toronto, here on January 28. The match is a substitute for the Gains-Muller fight, postponed on account of Muller's being caused by injuries to Heine Mueller, German champion.

Heine Mueller, German heavyweight boxing champion, was found today to be suffering from a slight hemorrhage over the right fourth rib, as a result of his fight with Reggie Meen, English heavyweight, whom he defeated two weeks ago. Mueller was ordered to bed for eight days.

SHIPPING, RAILWAY AND AVIATION NEWS

Officials Discourage But Flier Makes Plans

Only $30,000 Worth of Furs Aboard Ss. Baychimo, Winnipeg Message Says, But Young Pilot Intends to Fly North and Claim Salvage Rights

Seattle, Jan. 21.—While his plane is being overhauled and prepared for the hazardous flight to Point Barrow, Alaska, W. B. Graham, Alaska commercial aviator, yesterday was completing plans here for salvaging the rich fur cargo of the steamship Baychimo, missing in the Arctic ice pack some 1,500 miles north of Nome. The vessel, owned by the Hudson's Bay Company, was caught in the ice pack south of Point Barrow last fall, and passengers and some members of the crew made camp ashore, hoping to stand by their ship until the ice released her next summer.

During a heavy blow, the Baychimo disappeared, but later was discovered by natives about seventy-five miles away, where she had been carried by the shifting ice. The natives removed some of the cargo, she disappeared again a few days later and has not been sighted since. No one was aboard when she disappeared.

MAY FILE ON BEACH

Under marine law, the ship, if found, is subject to salvage as long as she is not manned. Graham plans to exercise his right to salvage the vessel and the cargo. The pilot said that if the ship could be salvaged, the cargo would be worth $30,000. He said that if the ship could be salvaged, the cargo would be worth $30,000. He said that if the ship could be salvaged, the cargo would be worth $30,000.

Graham plans to fly north from here within the next six days, following an inland route over British Columbia to Fairbanks and then Point Barrow, the northernmost settlement in Alaska.

Informing here yesterday evening that Hudson's Bay Company officials had said that only about $30,000 worth of furs remained aboard the vessel instead of the estimated $1,000,000, Graham said that he had not made the 1,000,000 estimate. He said crew members of the missing vessel upon their arrival here had made the estimate.

Asked if his proposed venture was not quite a risk for such a small amount, the Alaska flier said "Surely not." That means, referring to the small amount of furs estimated aboard the vessel, only one trip out of one knows exactly how many pelts are on the ship.

INANCING HIMSELF
The aviator said he was financing the venture himself and taking the chance that he would find the lost ship before company officials could put a man aboard to prevent his salvage operations.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 21.—Don Graham, thirty-year-old Alaskan aviator, who plans a flight from Seattle, Wash., into the west coast Arctic search of the lost steamer Baychimo and its cargo of furs, is "barking up the wrong tree" if he expects to find 1,000,000 worth of furs aboard the vessel.

SUNSHINE INN HAS PROVIDED OVER TWO THOUSAND MEALS

Widespread Public Support Won By Philanthropic Organization

Citizens and Business Firms Contribute Supplies and Cash For Needy

Since "Sunshine Inn" opened its doors three weeks ago, 2,000 meals have been served there. Because of the sympathy and industry of one man in starting the work and because of his unselfish, untiring assistance and the generous response of the public, no man, woman or child in Victoria need go hungry.

Not only is Capt. Burgess Gadsden responsible for the whole scheme, but he gives all of his time and effort towards developing it. He and his associates have the satisfaction of knowing that their work is well done and that their undertaking is a success in every way. Capt. Gadsden, anticipating the popularity of the "Inn" with women and children, has supplied a screened table for their exclusive use.

MANY WOMEN AND CHILDREN

He says that 15 per cent of those visiting the inn are women and children. To a Times reporter, Capt. Gadsden remarked on the conscientious feeling of many of those receiving help.

"One young man," he said, "asked whether he was eligible for free meals, because he had his room rent paid up for January and still had two dollars left."

Capt. Gadsden assured him he was eligible and need feel no compunction in accepting food until he found employment.

A GENIAL ADJUTANT

Arthur Pearson, who is genial and general factotum and indispensable aid at the "Inn," is in charge of distributing the clothing that is received. He is responsible for giving comfort to many poorly-clad citizens.

Generosity, innate in every one is given a spur by an organization of this kind, and the response has been wide spread.

While the reporter was present yesterday a dairyman called to ask about the milk supply. He had been given an order to deliver a dollar's worth of milk as it was needed. The order had been given him by the driver of a bread wagon, whom he had seen during the morning on his route.

A lad, who had been laid off one of the boats, after being fed at the Inn, offered his services to be used in any way that would help. He is an indefatigable worker and makes himself generally useful.

NO RED TAPE

The simplicity and economy of operating the Inn appeals to everyone. There is no red tape—no investigations—are made in connection with any person served—it is simply a place where food is dispensed to those who need it, through the generosity of those able to supply it.

Capt. Gadsden is not the only member of his family interested in the work, for his wife is a tireless worker, as is his mother.

"The captain's mother never arrives at the Inn empty-handed," said one of the workers. "She takes home all the fat we cut from the meat and her housekeeper makes the soap we use here. And so it goes—tales of generosity from every quarter."

Each and every worker of this splendid enterprise deserves a special word of thanks, but each modestly declines any credit, but passes it on to one of his fellow workers.

The following statement of donations and other assistance given Sunshine Inn has been issued:

The city lands department granted free use of the premises at 730 Pandora Avenue, and saw cans and water supply have also been given by the civic authorities. Lumber for benches, tables and shelves was donated by Cameron Lumber Company Limited, Lemon Gossman Company Limited, Moore and Whittington Company Limited, Shawigan Lake Lumber Company, Sjetey Lumber Company and the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber and Timber Company Limited.

The volunteer carpenters were Messrs. Arthur Pearson, Tews, Lang, and Cardwell. Oilcloth for tables was given by Weller Furniture Company Limited, nails were supplied by Hatt's Hardware, and the electric globes by Hawkins and Hayward.

The restaurant-type cooking range was loaned by the Mulholland Stove Company, and gas was installed by the British Columbia Electric Railway Company Limited, through B. J. Hallie, who has promised a generous rebate for gas used. Two gas plates and six chairs have been loaned by the Weller Furniture Company Limited.

Donors of coal and cordwood are: W. D. Todd, one ton coal; Painter and Sons, one ton coal; "Friend" hall cord wood; Mrs. F. F. Beckett has promised one cord. Mr. Hannan, a war veteran, cuts wood for kindling.

An ice box has been loaned by the B. Wilson Company, who also supply ice; McLennan, McFieley and Prior limited supplied three copper bottomed wash boilers for cooking and one fifteen-gallon stockpot which the Red Cross Workshop converted into a double boiler. The B.C. Hardware Company supplied a new front for the cook stove, the Hudson's Bay Company have given two pails and two steamers. The Jameson Coffee Company and the Powell Hardware Company supplied coffee pots.

Crockery and cutlery were provided by the following: James Coffee Company; Mrs. J. J. Davis Spencer-Kimberly; Mrs. Taylor, Friend, A. E. Mawberry, Roland Powell, Lady, Metropolitan Store, Mrs. Gurney, F. W. Woolworth Company Limited, Chinese Girl, and Vienna, Jan. 21.—The Austrian government to-day ordered its agents to buy 5,000 head of unfattened cattle and convert them into sausages for free distribution to the unemployed. The measure also was intended to help Alpine cattle raisers.

ASK yourself these four questions—then you will know whether the Life Insurance you now own gives adequate security and protection:

- 1.—Does your Life Insurance provide that, when you reach old age, you will have a definite monthly income sufficient to make you independent?
- 2.—Does your Life Insurance safeguard your wife and children—guaranteeing them a livelihood if death robs them of your support?
- 3.—Is your Life Insurance building up a cash reserve for future emergencies?
- 4.—Does your Life Insurance also include an education fund to equip your children for the battle of life—whether or not you live to see them start out?

By giving serious thought to your Life Insurance now you will probably save endless regret and worry in the future. By all means talk it over with a Life Insurance representative today.

CLOTH INDUSTRY IN CANADA BOOMS

Toronto, Jan. 18.—The Canadian Woolen and Knit Goods Manufacturers' Association issue the following:

"Employment in the wool yarn and cloth, broad silk fabric, artificial silk, fabric, and sock and stocking industries was greater in December, 1931 than in 1930. The government index of employment in the yarn and cloth industry show an increase from 93.0 in 1930 to 103.2 in 1931, and in the silk industry from 264.0 to 277.5. The government figures do not take into account improvement in employment where part time work in 1931. During 1931 substantial advances were made in producing goods to replace formerly imported goods.

"Cheap low grade woolsens, previously imported in great quantities from Great Britain and the continent are being produced in satisfactory quantities and prices, although the Canadian mills have never got down to the very lowest grades of imported cloths, say below fifty cents for a yard of cloth fifty-four inches in width. Some of the Canadian mills are working day and night on these materials.

"Overcoatings, for the production of which many Canadian mills are particularly adapted, were produced in all required quantities, ranging, for 54 inches in width from $1 up to $3.50 a yard in weight from twenty-six to thirty-two ounces. Blue worsted serges from twelve to twenty ounces and ranging from $1.35 to $2 a yard, were produced to the satisfaction of the trade, the dyeing on the whole being superior to similar imported cloths, which are now being dyed on a cheaper process than formerly, so as to be able to compete in price with Canadian cloths.

"Fancy piece dye worsteds were produced in good quality and patterns from $1.35 to $2 a yard (it takes three and a half yards to make a man's suit); and during the year the fancy worsted cloth mills changed over from using imported yarns to using yarns spun in Canada, which resulted in increased employment, the adjustments incidental to starting up spinning machinery which was thrown into idleness when weaving yarns were

GROWS A NERVE

Because he made a nerve grow so that all its secrets are visible "from birth to maturity," Dr. Carl Caskey Spiedel, above, of the University of Virginia, has won the annual $1,000 prize which the American Association for the Advancement of Science awards for outstanding discoveries.

On the free list have been completed, and those who have had the privilege of seeing advance samples of the fancy worsteds for spring are enthusiastic over the quality, patterns and colors. During this period the broad silk mills and mills producing artificial silk fabrics have been steadily increasing employment and are producing fabrics the equal of those produced anywhere in the world; the dyeing and printing of such fabrics has always been first class in Canada, the work done so good that in the past a large proportion of imported silks were brought into the country undyed and were dyed and finished in Canada.

STEVENS GOES TO EDMONTON

Calgary, Jan. 21.—Concluding a flying visit to Calgary during which he delivered an address on monetary system of Canada, Hon. H. H. Stevens, federal Minister of Trade and Commerce, left early this morning for Edmonton, to visit that city for a short time.

Mr. Stevens is en route to Ottawa after attending the New Zealand-Canadian trade conferences in Honolulu, at which an agreement was reached on inter-domain trade.

Two appointments were kept by Mr. Stevens while in Calgary. He formally opened the Made-in-Alberta Exhibition and addressed a joint meeting of the Board of Trade and the Canadian Club. Renewal of confidence in the monetary system was required to bring about stability in trade, said the cabinet member in his address to the joint meeting. He saw difficulty in financing trade through New York channels and said he hoped in the near future direct facilities for exchange between London, Eng., and Montreal would be established.

Scoring proposals to revert to barte Mr. Stevens declared they were a cumbersome and expensive. "The present system is by far the best so long as there is confidence in the medium of exchange used," he declared.
